A number of new features have been added to the Deercreek Dam Days Festival which will be held in Williamsport May 19 through 22.

A beauty pageant to select a Pickaway County Queen of Queens will be added to the Saturday evening program. Eligible to enter the contest is any queen chosen by a bona fide Pickaway County organization, club, festival, school or event (i.e. Pork Queen, Beef Queen, Fair Queen, F.F.A. Queens, Homecoming Queens, S.O.S. Queen, DeMolay Queen, all festivals, etc.).

The queen must have been chosen between May 1976 and May 1977.

Trophies, ribbons and other awards will be presented to the winner and runner-up. Entries should be submitted to Eileen Easterday, Festival Secretary, Box 328, Williamsport, Ohio 43164 no later than April 21. Please include name, age, address, phone number, parents name and for what group is reigning for. For information, call 986-3481.

Also included on the agenda is a dinner for queens visiting from other festivals. Letters of invitation will soon be placed in the mail.

Through the cooperation of Deercreek Dam officials a tour of the facilities will be an additional attraction for the visiting royalty.

Also added for this year is a student art show open to all students of the Pickaway County and Circleville City school systems. A qualified artist will judge the work. Exact details of awards to be given have not as yet been determined, however, awards will be given by age groups.

All entries must be submitted by 5 p.m. Thursday, May 19, at the Pavilion where the work will be displayed for public viewing throughout the four days of the festival.

License Plates Collectors Aided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Anyone interested in buying an old license plate?

Soon, collectors may be able to purchase obsolete, unsold plates—and even renewal stickers—from the bureau of motor vehicles.

Rep. J. Leonard Camera, D-53 Lorain, won House approval Thursday of his measure allowing sale of old plates for $5 and stickers for $2.

"Collectors all over the United States, and even the world, are interested in these things, I have found out," Camera told the House as his bill went to the Senate 86-0.

Senate Panel OKs Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thanks to the "honeymoon" that Congress traditionally grants to a new chief executive, President Carter apparently has the votes to win Senate Finance Committee approval of his $50-per-person tax rebate.

But Carter can expect a stiff fight when the measure reaches the Senate floor.

A final committee vote on the tax bill could come today.

Democratic members of the committee stuck together when the panel refused on separate 10-8 votes Thursday to substitute a permanent tax cut for the rebate. Four Democrats admitted afterwards they had misgivings about the rebate, but voted from party loyalty.

Independent Harry Byrd of Virginia joined the seven Republicans in voting against Carter.

The President's program did not fare so well in the Senate Appropriations Committee. By a 10-7 margin, the panel stripped from a House-passed bill $3.2 billion that had been earmarked to pay for a portion of the rebate program. That decision is subject to review by the full Senate.

It took a last-minute pitch by President Carter's chief economic adviser and all the persuasiveness of Chairman Russell B. Long for the finance committee to reject GOP alternatives to the rebate.

Democratic Sens. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, Daniel P. Moynihan of New York, Floyd Haskell of Colorado and Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of Texas conceded they voted against the GOP plan mainly because they think Carter's program should be given a chance to boost the economy.

That didn't sit well with Sen. William Roth, R-Del., who had proposed an across-the-board tax cut in place of the rebate.

"Several Democrats said they agreed with what I was trying to do but they didn't vote with me," Roth said. "Unfortunately, we're in a honeymoon period, so Congress again is reacting to what a president does instead of taking the initiative on its own."

Republican aides concede there is no chance of killing the rebate in committee and virtually none of stopping it on the floor. All 38 Republican senators oppose the rebate.

Some admit privately there is no way to convince the necessary 13

Democrats to join them in fighting the rebate because the Democrats don't want a role in handing Carter what would be a crushing defeat.

The rebate also had a narrow escape in the House on March 8, when a Republican floor amendment to substitute tax rate cuts for the rebate lost, 219 to 194.

GOP senators were successful in one fight in the committee on Thursday. Over Long's objections, the committee voted 10 to 7 to grant "heads of household," who mainly are divorced or widowed women with minor children, the same standard deduction allowed married couples.

Present law gives heads of household the $400 lower standard deduction used by single persons, even though heads of household usually have job-related and household expenses similar to those incurred by couples.

Ohio's Senator Metzenbaum Describes Telephone Calls

DURING THE INTERVIEW — Andi Porter, the Herald's temporary Washington, D. C. correspondent, talks with Senator Howard Metzenbaum during an interview March 7.

The very busy man took time out that afternoon before appearing on the Senate floor, where he usually spends most of his afternoon.

By ANDI PORTER
Herald Staff Writer

Ohio's Howard Metzenbaum receives telephone calls daily from his Russell Senate Building office in Washington D.C. He feels it "should be required of every public official" to talk with constituents for at least one hour daily.

The phone calls make the senator accessible to the people in Ohio. "It is a way for people to reach me directly with their problems." Sometimes the questions concern legislative work he is involved with, problems with higher gas bills and personal concerns such as the inability of an Ohioan to reach an overseas relative.

During the phone call session, from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., Metzenbaum said sometimes four lines are holding with people waiting to talk with him. Some constituents call to approve of Metzenbaum's policies and he even receives derogatory comments on the job he is doing as senator from Ohio.

Metzenbaum said he held the phone calls during his time in the senate in 1974.

An early riser, Metzenbaum usually fixes his own breakfast, does exercises and reads the "Washington Post" before coming to the office for the phone calls. After 9:30, he either returns calls or holds office conferences. Committee meetings are also held in the morning, from 10 a.m. on.

After a noon luncheon, Metzenbaum spends his time making remarks or debating on the floor of the Senate. The balance of the day is spent talking and working with legislative people and answering mail. He leaves the office at about 6:30 each evening.

At the present time, Metzenbaum and his employees are in the process of moving from his five offices to the seven he is allowed because of the size of his state. The senator is very excited about the move, because at the present time his office space is cramped.

His reception room, on the fourth floor of the senate building, is across and down the hall from his personal and outer office. His office is similar in design as Senator Glenn's office, but done in shades of gold instead of blue. The wall above the couch is decorated with a map of the world, with a coffee table in front of the couch. Two chairs face the couch, with the fireplace directly behind them. His desk is at the far end of the room.

In the outer office, two clerks occupy desks and there are a couple of chairs for those people waiting for appointments. A divider and door separates that office from one behind it.

In the rooms down the hall, four clerks share a room, with the press aid's office directly behind it.

Metzenbaum feels that because of the different parties, his relationship with the Carter administration will not be as good as it was during President Ford's term in office. Metzenbaum feels it will be more "difficult to be as effective," with the present administration.

He tries to get back to Ohio about once every two weeks. Although his family has grown, he stays in close touch with them. His daughters are in California, Florida, New York and Cambridge, Ohio.

The 59-year-old man received his B.A. and LL.D. degrees from Ohio State University in 1939 and 1941. He was married to Shirley Turoff Aug. 8, 1946 and they had four daughters. Not only has he been in the senate, but he has been a member of the Ohio House of Representatives during the years 1943 to 1946.

State Senate OKs Odometer Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Motor vehicle odometer rollbacks to disguise actual mileage from prospective buyers would come under heavy penalties in a bill approved by the Senate on Thursday.

After a flurry of debate, the bill went to the House 24-7 as the two chambers held routine floor sessions wrapping up their legislative work week.

Dyed carnations and other green reminders of St. Patrick's Day punctuated the proceedings in both chambers, with senators getting a brief bagpipe serenade from members of the Columbus Shamrock Club.

In other floor action, the Senate adopted unanimously and without debate its new code of ethics—a document similar to the one approved by the House last Feb. 17 by a vote of 91-0.

Both codes are mostly carryovers from the last legislative session. They make no mention of limits on outside income which highlighted debate on self-policing documents this year in Congress.

Salaries at the two levels of government are vastly different, however—$57,500 for members of Congress compared to $17,500 for state legislators, most of whom actively pursue separate trades and professions.

Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, said the practice of rolling back odometers, not only among unscrupulous auto dealers but among private citizens as well, has reached alarming proportions in Ohio.

So much so, he said, "that the honest dealers can't compete."

His measure, requested by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, is needed because the U.S. Justice Department has not attempted enforcement of a similar ban against rollbacks enacted by Congress five years ago, he said. O'Shaughnessy said only five or six convictions have been obtained nationwide under that statute "and none of them has been in Ohio."

Sen. William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, voted against the bill after pointing out that Congress amended the federal act last year to enable state attorneys general to enforce the prohibition.

O'Shaughnessy insisted, however, that state legislation is needed by the attorney general to clarify the policy and jurisdiction of the state.

The bill adds to existing criminal fraud penalties the right of deceived purchasers to sue for treble damages up to $1,500, and provides that dealers caught tampering with mileage indicators will automatically lose their licenses.

In at least one area, the Senate code of ethics is weaker than the document adopted by the House.

The House code contains a prohibition against its members

Bailey Resigns CHS Basketball Coaching Post

Circleville High School basketball coach Jim Bailey announced today he has submitted his resignation as varsity basketball coach to the board of education. He is not resigning as teacher and audio-visual director.

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of city schools, indicated today that he will recommend the board accept Bailey's resignation as coach at the April meeting.

Bailey has been coach at Circleville for two years, leading the Tigers to the Regional finals at Dayton a year ago where they were defeated by eventual state champion Dayton Roth, and to the district this year where they were beaten by Columbus Mifflin, now playing in the regional tournament at Athens. The Tigers had a 22-2 record last year and finished this season with a 13-8 mark.

In announcing his resignation to The Herald, Bailey submitted the following statement:

"The resignation is motivated by reaction to my decision to rest my starters and start an all senior line-up in the Wilmington game. I made the decision to rest my starters because (1) I knew that we would have to be at full strength to have any chance to beat Mifflin in the district tournament and (2) I believed, in light of the physical condition of our squad, that a total commitment of our regular starters could have very likely left us at less than full strength.

"The years in Circleville have been good ones for our family. We very much like our neighborhood, our church, the school system, and the community as a whole. I am grateful for the cooperation and support that have been given by our fans, the press, the Athletic Booster Club, the faculty and administration of the Circleville City Schools.

"I am especially thankful to my assistant coaches for the outstanding job they have done.

"I am most of all grateful for the all-out effort made by the young men whom I have had the privilege of coaching. I am a teacher. It gives me great joy and satisfaction to think of the effort, accomplishments, and improvement of my players during the last two years.

"In closing I wish to publicly thank the Circleville City Schools for having been given the opportunity to be a coach of the young people of Circleville."

Carter Popularity Expected To Drop Over Energy Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says his proposal for a national energy policy will make his popularity rating plummet because his plan "will substantially change the lifestyle of the American people."

Chatting with reporters Thursday night as he neared the end of his first meet-the-people trip, Carter said his energy plan means "some very difficult decisions will have to be made by Congress."

The President said, "I'm going to take as much of the disapproval and disappointment of the American people on myself as President to make it easier for Congress to move forward."

Carter planned today to sign legislation that will halt the importation of chrome from Rhodesia. Carter had supported the measure, saying it would underline U.S. commitment to black majority rule in the African nation, now controlled by a white minority.

On his whirlwind two-day trip, the President participated in an energy roundtable in Charleston, W. Va., where he said:

"We now have above a 70 per cent favorable rating in the polls for our job so far, but when we come out with an energy policy on April 20 we will probably lose about 10 or 15 per cent of that."

That was a reference to the most recent Gallup Poll, which showed 70 per cent of those questioned saying they approve of Carter's performance as President, while 9 per cent disapproved. The rest had no opinion.

Carter said he was willing to sacrifice some of his popularity among the people "to require them to face the brutal facts that we all are going to have to work together to deal with the impending crisis... as energy runs out" in the years ahead.

The President gave few details of what he has in mind beyond emphasizing conservation programs and greater utilization of coal.

Akron Man Wins Ohio Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jasper Schember, 55, says he's been working in the General Tire & Rubber Co. plant in Akron for 35 years, and he's going to keep right on working despite his winnings in the Ohio lottery.

Schember, who says his job is to schedule production in the rubber plant, was top winner in the televised Pot O'Gold game Thursday night, with $40,000, and gets to come back next week for a try at up to $250,000.

Robert Edwards of Muncie, Ind., who grabbed $80,000 from the Pot O'Gold last week, missed the big money on his second try, but picked off an additional $8,700. That boosted his total winnings to $88,700.

Violet Sticha of Cleveland was the big winner in the Double Play game, taking home $51,000. George Powell of Cleveland won $25,000 in Double Play, and Velda Marshall of Toledo won the $12,000 third prize.

Other Pot O'Gold winners included Cecilia Morse of Painesville, $7,500; Betty Kobe, Findlay, $9,000; Ferne Marshall, Dayton, $8,800, and Ronald Kuhns, Dayton, $8,700.

In other floor action, the Senate adopted unanimously and without debate its new code of ethics—a document similar to the one approved by the House last Feb. 17 by a vote of 91-0.

Both codes are mostly carryovers from the last legislative session. They make no mention of limits on outside income which highlighted debate on self-policing documents this year in Congress.

Salaries at the two levels of government are vastly different, however—$57,500 for members of Congress compared to $17,500 for state legislators, most of whom actively pursue separate trades and professions.

Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, said the practice of rolling back odometers, not only among unscrupulous auto dealers but among private citizens as well, has reached alarming proportions in Ohio.

So much so, he said, "that the honest dealers can't compete."

His measure, requested by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, is needed because the U.S. Justice Department has not attempted enforcement of a similar ban against rollbacks enacted by Congress five years ago, he said. O'Shaughnessy said only five or six convictions have been obtained nationwide under that statute "and none of them has been in Ohio."

Sen. William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, voted against the bill after pointing out that Congress amended the federal act last year to enable state attorneys general to enforce the prohibition.

O'Shaughnessy insisted, however, that state legislation is needed by the attorney general to clarify the policy and jurisdiction of the state.

The bill adds to existing criminal fraud penalties the right of deceived purchasers to sue for treble damages up to $1,500, and provides that dealers caught tampering with mileage indicators will automatically lose their licenses.

In at least one area, the Senate code of ethics is weaker than the document adopted by the House.

The House code contains a prohibition against its members

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — The ironic twists of history are much in evidence as President Carter's mission to Hanoi nears the end of its ground-breaking visit.

Seeking information about Americans missing in the Vietnam War, the presidential commission is also taking the first steps toward opening friendly relations between the Communist regime and its former battlefield enemy.

The Americans have met with Vietnamese who expected the United States to do that 30 years ago, after World War II.

One was Premier Pham Van Dong. Now an erect, white-haired old man, in those days he was a wiry youthful aide to Ho Chi Minh, working with American OSS agents against the Japanese.

Another such was Phung Cong Du, now a senior official of the Foreign Ministry. At a dinner for the Americans Thursday night, he told of rescuing downed American pilots in World War II and saving them from the Japanese.

"What?" asked Lt. Col. Paul C. Mather in disbelief, starting at the smiling Vietnamese. "By God, that's an irony."

Sitting across from each other at the dinner were Roger Shields, a Defense Department consultant, and Tran Trong Quat, who in 1972 headed the Vietnamese committee that turned over three American prisoners of war to a delegation of Americans opposed to the Vietnam War.

U.S. officials tried to keep the freed men away from reporters to minimize the boost to the antiwar movement. Figuring in a major confrontation at New York's Kennedy Airport was Shields, then a senior Defense Department official.

"We were struggling for the pilots' souls then," the crewcut Shields recalled before he drank a toast with Quat, the man who had been struggling from the other end.

Another guest at the table was West Potter Henry J. Kenny, who lost a leg in Vietnam during the Tet offensive in 1968 while with the 199th Airborne Brigade. Now an aide to the House Select Committee on Americans Missing in Southeast Asia, he said he is as eager as anyone to forgive.

BOOK AWARD — At a recent meeting of Father Hannan Council Knights of Columbus, Ray Nardi was presented with a pen and pencil set for his outstanding participation in the recently conducted Ohio Charities Campaign. Nardi was personally responsible for selling 200 books of tickets during the campaign. The presentation was made by Edward Riley Sr. who served as chairman of the campaign for Hannan council. Monies derived from the campaign are used for the youth and charitable work that the Knights participate in throughout the year.

Young Life Members Attend Camp Meet

Approximately 25 young people represented Young Life of Circleville at a recent Young Life camp for Central Ohio clubs at Camp Willson, Bellefontaine.

The group, which joined nearly 400 other highschool students in the Columbus area, enjoyed a week-end of fun and various activities in a Christian atmosphere. The speaker for the week-end was Pete Weaver, regional Young Life director from Pittsburg.

Representatives from the Circleville Young Life Committee visited the camp on Saturday afternoon to view and to participate in the camp activities.

This was the fifth week-end camp of this type in which the Circleville club has participated. Over 150 young people from the community have been involved in these camps in the nearly three years of Young Life's existence in Circleville.

At the last club meeting a film entitled "Time for Living" was shown. The film was of the various summer camps owned and operated by Young Life.

In the past two years, local teens represented Circleville club at the camps in Colorado and North Carolina. This summer teens are given the opportunity to attend the Young Life camps in New York and in Canada.

For further information and for camp applications, call the Young Life office at 474-7834 or contact any of the Young Life leaders. Another showing of the camp film will be given at a later date for those who were unable to attend last week's club meeting. Nearly 450 local teens are now involved in Young Life and plans are being made to expand the work.

However, to expand or even to continue the Young Life program in Circleville demands an increase in financial contributions, as its operation is entirely dependent upon gifts from within the community.

Anyone wishing to contribute to either the general fund or to the camp scholarship fund should contact the Young Life office at 367 E. Main St., Circleville.

All work presently being done is on a volunteer basis.

The leaders include Greg and Debbie Brown, Sam and Nanci Dettra, Mindy Sargeant, Dan and Carol Zink, Bob Hively, Brenda Riffle, Nancy Spring, Sheila Lutz and Bill Oliver.

Local committee members are Ed and Edith Grigg, Charles Hickey, David Case, Forrest Traylor, Ruth Reichelderfer, Nick and Phyllis Meena and Larry Plum.

BOOK AWARD — At a recent meeting of Father Hannan Council Knights of Columbus, Ray Nardi was presented with a pen and pencil set for his outstanding participation in the recently conducted Ohio Charities Campaign. Nardi was personally responsible for selling 200 books of tickets during the campaign. The presentation was made by Edward Riley Sr. who served as chairman of the campaign for Hannan council. Monies derived from the campaign are used for the youth and charitable work that the Knights participate in throughout the year.

Young Life Members Attend Camp Meet

Approximately 25 young people represented Young Life of Circleville at a recent Young Life camp for Central Ohio clubs at Camp Willson, Bellefontaine.

The group, which joined nearly 400 other highschool students in the Columbus area, enjoyed a week-end of fun and various activities in a Christian atmosphere. The speaker for the week-end was Pete Weaver, regional Young Life director from Pittsburgh.

Representatives from the Circleville Young Life Committee visited the camp on Saturday afternoon to view and to participate in the camp activities.

This was the fifth week-end camp of this type in which the Circleville club has participated. Over 150 young people from the community have been involved in these camps in the nearly three years of Young Life's existence in Circleville.

At the last club meeting a film entitled "Time for Living" was shown. The film was of the various summer camps owned and operated by Young Life.

In the past two years, local teens represented Circleville club at the camps in Colorado and North Carolina. This summer teens are given the opportunity to attend the Young Life camps in New York and in Canada.

For further information and for camp applications, call the Young Life office at 474-7834 or contact any of the Young Life leaders. Another showing of the camp film will be given at a later date for those who were unable to attend last week's club meeting.

Nearly 450 local teens are now involved in Young Life and plans are being made to expand the work.

However, to expand or even to continue the Young Life program in Circleville demands an increase in financial contributions, as its operation is entirely dependent upon gifts from within the community.

Anyone wishing to contribute to either the general fund or to the camp scholarship fund should contact the Young Life office at 367 E. Main St., Circleville.

All work presently being done is on a volunteer basis.

The leaders include Greg and Debbie Brown, Sam and Nanci Dettra, Mindy Sargeant, Dan and Carol Zink, Bob Hively, Brenda Riffle, Nancy Spring, Sheila Lutz and Bill Oliver.

Local committee members are Ed and Edith Grigg, Charles Hickey, David Case, Forrest Traylor, Ruth Reichelderfer, Nick and Phyllis Meena and Larry Plum.

On Books And Activities At The Library

In the Spring, thoughts turn to yardwork, house repairs, getting summer recreational equipment in repair, vacation plans, and many other exciting projects. There's no better place to answer your questions than the Pickaway County District Public Library. From repairing your lawnmower to planning a great cook-out, the shelves are full of good ideas.

When you've finished all the hard work, relax with a good novel. Jean Plaidy, also known as Victoria Holt, Phillipa Carr and Eleanor Hibbert, has done her usual good job on a new historical novel. "The Three Crowns" is the story of William and Mary and their strange relationship.

If you are one of the many readers who enjoy stories with a medical setting, "A Pride Of Healers" by Richard Hirschhorn will be to your liking. It's a powerful novel of sweeping scope and drama. It examines the medical world in both its frailties and strengths.

"Lucifer Land" by Mildred and Katherine Davis tells an absorbing though often violent story of what life was like for ordinary Americans at the time of the Revolution.

John Cheever's "Falconer" is a moving book, both fantastic and real, about a substantial, upper-middle-class man and the storms of love and anger that propel him into crime, into prison, and into an undreamed-of liberation.

A cruel portrait of a family imperceptibly falling apart, "A Quiet Life" by Beryl Bainbridge portrays the WW II years of a declining middle-class family.

Joan Lingard's likable young couple and their attempt to escape from a bad beginning will appeal to readers of all backgrounds. Meet them in "Hostages To Fortune."

For the mystery fans, "Doctor, Lawyer" by Collin Wilcox presents another exploit of Lt. Hastings of the San Francisco Police Department.

Agatha Christie was known as the "Queen of Crime" for half a century. "Masterpieces Of Murder" contains the 4 murder classics largely responsible for establishing her reputation as a mystery writer.

Robert Bloch, author of "Psycho" has put together 14 terror-filled tales to keep you up at night. He calls it "Cold Chills."

For the war buffs, we have several new volumes being added to our collection. Books about tanks, secret weapons, fighters and bombers, air battles, sea battles and great Generals should keep you interested for months.

With Memorial Day just around the corner, "The Indianapolis 500" by John and Barbara Davaney is timely. It's a complete pictorial history of that famous racing event.

February Sales Tax Figures

Gertrude W. Donahey, treasurer of the state, has released the county sales tax and motor vehicle sales tax reports for the month of February.

Pickaway County reported a total of $110,672.33 in sales taxes for February of 1977, as compared to $97,102.49 for February of 1976. The difference amounts to $13,569.84, or 13.97 per cent.

To date in fiscal 1977, the county has collected $883,265.76 in sales taxes, compared to $783,096.18 to this date in fiscal 1976. The difference is $100,169.58, or 12.79 per cent.

Pickaway County reported $65,514.43 in motor vehicle sales taxes for February of 1977, compared to $58,374.28 in February of 1976. The difference is $4,140.15, or 7.09 per cent.

To this date in fiscal 1977, the county has reported $586,802.71 in motor vehicle sales taxes, compared to $498,750.54 in fiscal 1976 for this date. The difference is $88,052.17, or 17.65 per cent.

Tenderfoot Leaders

People who become overly sensitive to an issue tend to lose their perspectives. Or perhaps it is the other way around. In either case, some of the people who head up Scouting-USA have been afflicted.

What, pray tell, is Scouting-USA? Millions of males have had some experience with the organization — usually a very pleasant one — at some point in their lives. But then it was known as the Boy Scouts of America.

From the American headquarters in New Brunswick, N.J., has come the official word that after 67 years as Boy Scouts of America, the organization which first acquainted youths with the difficulty of starting a fire without matches has changed its name. Well, that is sort of.

Legally, it is still the Boy Scouts of America. But communicatively, it is now Scouting-USA. The reason, explain the adult mentors, partly is to avoid confusion and partly because young women are now enrolled in the coed Exploring program.

Communicatively speaking, that explanation falls short. Having two official names does nothing to lessen confusion, and it was the same headquarters, was it not, which promoted the infusion of coeds into the formerly all-male bastion?

Perhaps the final word on the subject comes from the councils of the Girl Scouts of America. Not only are they perfectly happy with their name, but they are most unhappy with the new designation for the boys' division.

As for the actual members of the organization, it might be revealing if national headquarters held a vote to test their sentiments.

A Deadly Tease

By JIM BISHOP

Uganda is a small, land-locked nation of green mountains and serene lakes. It is a 15-year-old nation of rusting cotton gins, tea factories and sugar mills. It has 11.5 million people, many of whom are afflicted with malaria, hookworm and venereal disease.

They are also afflicted with a big man with brooding brown eyes. He is President-for-Life, Field Marshal Doctor Idi Amin Dada. Once he was a sergeant in the King's African Rifles, a crack British colonial regiment that fought African insurgents in Kenya. His appetites for power, food and sex are insatiable.

Six years ago, Amin overthrew the government of Milton Obote. He knows the route to revolution. So he overpays his army of 21,000 men. With enlistment Amin also grants rights to raid homes, seize people, plunder, rape and kill.

The Ugandan Air Force consists of two planes: a Boeing 707 and a C-130. Their sole function is to fly weekly to Gatwick Airport in London and pick up liquor, stereos, tape cassettes, cars and expensive clothing for the officers of the army.

Amin sees himself as a playful tease. When he likes people, he either bestows medals on them or marries them. He tires of people he admires. Wives and friends and apathetic citizens are fed to crocodiles in the north-flowing Nile.

The western press libels Amin. They say he has killed 300,000 persons in five years. His associates say it is only 30,000. The West also asserts that he has a huge freezer in his house where the heads of his enemies repose on aluminum shelves. This is apocryphal.

The economy of Uganda was managed by Pakistanis and Indians. Four years ago, Amin expelled all of them — 55,000. The shops, the coffee plantations, the sugar mills died slowly.

At least 2 million bags of coffee rot in the sun near the Kampala airport. No one offers to buy it because Uganda does not keep its promises. Amin desires to attract new business and insists that his government will take only 40 per cent to 49 per cent of the profits.

The country is bankrupt. One of every 20 vehicles is in running condition. Amin's airport and air force were built by Israeli engineers. Result: He despises Jews and promises to build a statue to Adolf Hitler.

Some say he is insane. The last U.S. Ambassador to Uganda says, "I hold that Amin is thoroughly sane, totally shrewd and fully accountable..." Ten black American newspapermen flew to Uganda last year to see the country and interview the despot.

They claim he is maligned. United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young visited Tanzania and Nigeria. He condemned African countries dominated by whites for their unrealistic attitudes, but of Idi Amin all he had to say was, "Amin and Ian Smith have a lot in common."

The shillings and pounds of Uganda all bear the portrait of the master. They have been worthless in Kenya, Tanzania, Zaire and the Sudan. Now they are worthless in Uganda. The land flourishes with vegetation; the people do not starve.

The world looks upon Idi Amin as an ugly murderer. This impels him to draw attention to himself. White residents of Uganda kneel in his presence to pledge allegiance to his regime. When a British writer referred to Amin as a "village tyrant," Amin sentenced the novelist to death.

The former sergeant forced British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan to fly to Uganda to plead for the man's life. In Kampala, Amin had a "presidential hut" erected. He sat inside on a throne. The entrance was two feet high. Callaghan had to crawl on hands and knees.

The natives were amused. President Carter, asked about Amin, said the man "disgusted the world." The dictator responded by warning 240 American citizens that they could not leave Uganda. They were also invited to a vague party, at which some thought the Americans might be the main dish.

He blusters. He backs off. He must draw attention to himself. He steals the lion's tail one week; twists the beard of Uncle Sam on another. He plays his last economic card by begging the Arabs for money. Libya sends a little.

Sometimes he blubbers and offers sympathy to those he condemns to death. Idi Amin is 49. Lloyd's of London will not insure that he will reach 50...

Old Silver Dollar Proves Nice Gift

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — When Norman Johnson got an 1804 U.S. silver dollar from his grandfather, he thought it was simply a nice gesture.

Then this week he had the coin appraised. A local coin dealer, Ted Cash, said Wednesday he thinks the silver dollar is worth $264,000.

"It's easily the most valuable coin in Australia and one of the most valuable in the world," Cash said, adding that he started to shake when he realized the value of the coin.

Johnson, 30, a truck driver, said he did not know what he would do with the coin.

The poet Robert Frost was born in San Francisco, Calif. in 1874. He moved to Massachusetts in 1884 after his father died.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, March 18th, the 77th day of 1977. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, during the American Revolution, George Washington took over control of Boston after evacuation of the British.

On this date:

In 1837, Grover Cleveland, who held office as the 22nd and the 24th U.S. Presidents, was born in Caldwell, N.J.

In 1937, a gas explosion in a school in New London, Texas killed more than 400 people, mostly children.

In 1962, a cease-fire in the Algerian War was signed by French authorities and Algerian rebel delegates in Evian-Bains, France.

In 1965, a Soviet cosmonaut became the first man to leave an orbiting spacecraft and float in space.

Also in 1965, exiled King Farouk of Egypt died in Rome.

In 1970, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk was deposed as Chief of State while on a visit to Moscow.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson left for Guam for a meeting on the Vietnam War with American and Allied officials.

Five years ago: It was reported that South Vietnamese troops had beaten back an assault by North Vietnamese troops near Hue in South Vietnam.

One year ago: It was disclosed that British Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon would separate but would not get divorced.

Today's birthdays: Country music singer Charley Pride is 39. Composer Alan Hovhaness is 66.

Thought for today: Customs may not be as wise as laws, but they are always more popular. — Benjamin Disraeli, British prime minister, 1804-1881.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

During a bout of tonsillitis, our 5-year-old son had a convulsion which lasted for about four minutes, then stopped. Our doctor assures us that this happens to some of his patients and that they never again have a convulsion. We'd like your added opinion.

Mrs. J. T., Ill.

Dear Mrs. T.:

A convulsion is a terrifying thing to watch. It's particularly terrifying when it occurs so unexpectedly and without any previous knowledge of an existing illness. All of us in the practice of medicine have known children who, during a period of high fever, have a convulsive seizure.

Such a single convulsion does not mean that your child has been left with any brain damage. Neither does it mean that these convulsions will recur later in life.

When your son has completely recovered from the infection which precipitated the convulsion, routine neurological tests will undoubtedly be done. A brain wave study (electroencephalograph) should be done to rule out definitely any possibility of epilepsy as a cause for the convulsion. Sometimes parents are unnecessarily fearful of such tests, and deliberately delay having them made. This can do an injustice to you and the child, for only by these extensive studies can the doctor be sure that the convulsion was in no way related to epilepsy.

If I take my shoes off in the late afternoon I can barely get them on again because my feet are so swollen. After a night's sleep, the swelling is gone. Since I'm in good health I wonder what can cause this.

Miss S.S., Nev.

Dear Miss S.:

Swelling (edema) of the feet and legs may be caused by a variety of conditions. As in your case, the problem is usually a simple one. In others, it may represent some signs of disturbance of the blood circulation.

Varicose veins, marked overweight, retention of fluid and standing on the feet all day may cause the swelling.

Many people have a slight swelling of the feet which is known as "positional edema." With the feet elevated in bed, the swelling usually disappears by morning.

There are now many simple, painless tests by which the circulation of the blood and the lymph drainage system are studied.

Persistent swelling deserves the benefit of these tests so that the underlying cause can be found and eliminated.

Housing Measure Pushes Insulation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Housing built in Ohio after July 1, 1979, would have to be insulated under standards prescribed by the state under a bill now awaiting action in the Senate.

Rep. C.J. McLin Jr., D-36 Dayton, said the cost of such insulation would be about $1,500 for a three-bedroom unit. But he estimated savings of about one-third on heating bills during the November through March heating season.

McLin won 65-31 House approval of his bill Wednesday, sending it to the Senate, after explaining that this winter's fuel crisis clearly demonstrated the need for greater conservation of natural gas and other fuels.

"We found that we had many uninsulated homes, too many rusted pipes, and too much loss of energy," the veteran Montgomery County lawmaker told the House.

Under his bill, the Ohio Board of Building Standards would mandate insulation requirements, spelled in the bill, through its supervision of local housing boards which issue building permits.

The bill makes exceptions for nonresidential buildings such as warehouses, barns and other structures in which no heat is required.

Senators, in major floor action Wednesday, added their approval 26-7 to a House measure that places restrictions on rent referral agents who sell lists of apartment and other rental locations.

That measure, which now returns to the House for consideration of Senate changes, requires rental agents to enter into contracts with apartment hunters and return any part of a fee above $10, if a listed location is not rented.

Agents would be subject to penalties for providing false information, or for referring a potential tenant without the owner's permission—the abuses which led to the legislation, sponsors said.

By a vote of 30-3, senators went the House a constitutional amendment making it easier for county voters to adopt a charter form of government.

Sen. Kenneth Cox, D-28 Barberton, the chief sponsor, said it permits the submission of once-defeated charter proposals for a second vote, and allows public officeholders to serve as members of charter commissions, which draw up charter proposals.

Cox noted that to date no Ohio county has approved a charter government, under which counties may assume legislative powers to govern areas outside cities. "County governments need more options as they seek to serve the people," said Cox, a former Barberton mayor.

Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, opposed the Cox proposal which also requires the approval of voters. He sees it, Butts said, as an effort by suburban interests to draw power away from central cities.

Cookies Recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is ordering the recall of nearly 18,000 cases of "Chip Chip" chocolate chip cookies marketed in 15 states because of a danger of food poisoning.

The agency said Wednesday the cookies, manufactured by Ripon Foods, Inc., of Ripon, Wis., contain chocolate drops contaminated with salmonella, which causes food poisoning.

The drops were manufactured by Ambrosia Chocolate Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., the FDA said.

In announcing the recall, the government said it had received no reports of poisoning as a result of the chocolate drops.

The FDA said the recalled products were marketed under the Rippin' Good, Dolly Madison, Grand Union, Crackin' Good, Sather's, Shoprite and Star's labels in one- and two-dozen packages.

It said the packages were coded 0127 through 0227 and dated Jan. 12-22, 1977.

The FDA said the cookies were marketed in California, Alabama, Florida, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio and Wisconsin.

NEW YORK (AP) — The indicators of increasingly strong economic activity, including the sharp rebound in industrial production after the big freeze, is intensifying the debate over future inflation.

The difference in outlook has always simmered in the divergent philosophies of conservatives and liberals, but the eruption this time is hardly theoretical. It involves Washington's great stimulus plan.

The split in viewpoint became clearly visible late in 1976, when some interpreted the so-called "pause" to be a weakness that had to be corrected, while others said it was temporary and self-correcting.

It widened in January and February, when the coldest winter in many years, accompanied by a natural gas shortage, slowed the gears of industry in a vast area of the nation. Again, some said temporary, others said permanent damage.

Now it has become a gap that perhaps cannot be bridged by compromise, as increasingly favorable economic reports suggest to some bank and business economists that the stimulus program should be shrunk and maybe even abandoned.

The lines are imperfectly drawn. Some business economists remain convinced that inflation won't exceed the 5 per cent to 6 per cent level, or not much changed from last year's rate.

While not enthusiastic about the entire program, some of these economists do feel that business can benefit from fiscal goading, not so much as an immediate corrective but as part of a long-term program to revitalize industry.

Others, however, are adamant, and have been telling clients and customers, and anyone who will listen, Congress included, that tax rebates and job-creation programs are ripples that will grow to a new wave of inflation.

As the evidence accumulates that the economy rebounded from its constraints as suddenly as the weather improved, the warnings of the anti-stimulusists have grown more ominous.

They observe that despite the terrible weather, employment has risen, installment credit and consumer spending have grown, capital spending plans of business have accelerated.

Those who support stimulus don't accept the conclusions drawn from these observations. They counter with interpretations of their own: Unemployment also is up, credit is rising because people need it, capital spending plans are higher because business anticipates a tax break.

Distilling the dispute to its essence, one finds it is mainly an argument over how near to capacity the economy is now operating.

The gap widens right there, because there is a controversy not only over the percentage of capacity now being used, but on how fast we should run to achieve peak capacity.

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Tenderfoot Leaders

People who become overly sensitive to an issue tend to lose their perspectives. Or perhaps it is the other way around. In either case, some of the people who head up Scouting-USA have been afflicted.

What, pray tell, is Scouting-USA? Millions of males have had some experience with the organization — usually a very pleasant one — at some point in their lives. But then it was known as the Boy Scouts of America.

From the American headquarters in New Brunswick, N.J., has come the official word that after 67 years as Boy Scouts of America, the organization which first acquainted youths with the difficulty of starting a fire without matches has changed its name. Well, that is sort of.

Legally, it is still the Boy Scouts of America. But communicatively, it is now Scouting-USA. The reason, explain the adult mentors, partly is to avoid confusion and partly because young women are now enrolled in the coed Exploring program.

Communicatively speaking, that explanation falls short. Having two official names does nothing to lessen confusion, and it was the same headquarters, was it not, which promoted the infusion of coeds into the formerly all-male bastion?

Perhaps the final word on the subject comes from the councils of the Girl Scouts of America. Not only are they perfectly happy with their name, but they are most unhappy with the new designation for the boys' division.

As for the actual members of the organization, it might be revealing if national headquarters held a vote to test their sentiments.

A Deadly Tease

By JIM BISHOP

Uganda is a small, land-locked nation of green mountains and serene lakes. It is a 15-year-old nation of rusting cotton gins, tea factories and sugar mills. It has 11.5 million people, many of whom are afflicted with malaria, hookworm and venereal disease.

They are also afflicted with a big man with brooding brown eyes. He is President-for-Life, Field Marshal Doctor Idi Amin Dada. Once he was a sergeant in the King's African Rifles, a crack British colonial regiment that fought African insurgents in Kenya. His appetites for power, food and sex are insatiable.

Six years ago, Amin overthrew the government of Milton Obote. He knows the route to revolution. So he overpays his army of 21,000 men. With enlistment Amin also grants rights to raid homes, seize people, plunder, rape and kill.

The Ugandan Air Force consists of two planes: a Boeing 707 and a C-130. Their sole function is to fly weekly to Gatwick Airport in London and pick up liquor, stereos, tape cassettes, cars and expensive clothing for the officers of the army.

Amin sees himself as a playful tease. When he likes people, he either bestows medals on them or marries them. He tires of people he admires. Wives and friends and apathetic citizens are fed to crocodiles in the north-flowing Nile.

The western press labels Amin. They say he has killed 300,000 persons in five years. His associates say it is only 30,000. The West also asserts that he has a huge freezer in his house where the heads of his enemies repose on aluminum shelves. This is apocryphal.

The economy of Uganda was managed by Pakistanis and Indians. Four years ago, Amin expelled all of them — 55,000. The shops, the coffee plantations, the sugar mills died slowly.

At least 2 million bags of coffee rot in the sun near the Kampala airport. No one offers to buy it because Uganda does not keep its promises. Amin desires to attract new business and insists that his government will take only 40 per cent to 49 per cent of the profits.

The country is bankrupt. One of every 20 vehicles is in running condition. Amin's airport and air force were built by Israeli engineers. Result: He despises Jews and promises to build a statue to Adolf Hitler.

Some say he is insane. The last U.S. Ambassador to Uganda says, "I hold that Amin is thoroughly sane, totally shrewd and fully accountable. . . ." Ten black American newspapermen flew to Uganda last year to see the country and interview the despot.

They claim he is malignant. United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young visited Tanzania and Nigeria. He condemned African countries dominated by whites for their unrealistic attitudes, but of Idi Amin all he had to say was, "Amin and Ian Smith have a lot in common."

The shillings and pounds of Uganda all bear the portrait of the master. They have been worthless in Kenya, Tanzania, Zaire and the Sudan. Now they are worthless in Uganda. The land flourishes with vegetation; the people do not starve.

The world looks upon Idi Amin as an angry murderer. This impels him to draw attention to himself. White residents of Uganda kneel in his presence to pledge allegiance to his regime. When a British writer referred to Amin as a "village tyrant," Amin sentenced the novelist to death.

The former sergeant forced British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan to fly to Uganda to plead for the man's life. In Kampala, Amin had a "presidential hut" erected. He sat inside on a throne. The entrance was two feet high. Callaghan had to crawl on hands and knees.

The natives were amused. President Carter, asked about Amin, said the man "disgusted the world." The dictator responded by warning 240 American citizens that they could not leave Uganda. They were also invited to a vague party, at which some thought the Americans might be the main dish.

He blusters. He backs off. He must draw attention to himself. He hefts the lion's tail one week; twists the beard of Uncle Sam on another. He plays his last economic card by begging the Arabs for money. Libya sends a little.

Sometimes he blusters and offers sympathy to those he condemns to death. Idi Amin is 49. Lloyd's of London will not insure that he will reach 50 . . .

Old Silver Dollar Proves Nice Gift

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — When Norman Johnson got an 1804 U.S. silver dollar from his grandfather, he thought it was simply a nice gesture.

Then this week he had the coin appraised. A local coin dealer, Ted Cash, said Wednesday he thinks the silver dollar is worth $264,000.

"It's easily the most valuable coin in Australia and one of the most valuable in the world," Cash said, adding that he started to shake when he realized the value of the coin.

Johnson, 30, a truck driver, said he did not know what he would do with the coin.

The poet Robert Frost was born in San Francisco, Calif. in 1874. He moved to Massachusetts in 1884 after his father died.

Today In History

Variable Tariffs Hurt U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has worked out an example of how the European Common Market is able to close the door on some U.S. farm products by using its so-called "variable levy" system of tariffs.

David L. Hume, administrator of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, says that the variable levy is one of the major problems affecting U.S. trade with the Common Market.

Basically, as part of the Europeans' Common Agricultural Policy, when a foreign commodity is priced lower than a target price specified in the policy formula, an import tariff is

Auto Output To Spiral This Week

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. weekly auto production was expected to soar to its highest levels of 1977 this week with an estimated 210,442 cars slated to roll off assembly lines.

The previous high for the year was 205,311 cars built two weeks ago.

The trade publication Automotive News said Wednesday that the latest planned output would mark the fifth time in six weeks that car-makers posted a newly weekly high for 1977.

Industry output was aided by the reopening of American Motors' Kenosha, Wis., plant, which was down last week for inventory adjustment.

The only plant idle this week is Chrysler's St. Louis facility, which is closed until March 28 for model changeover.

Saturday overtime has been scheduled for 11 General Motors assembly plants, 10 Ford plants and two Chrysler facilities.

Planned output this week compares with 205,283 cars built last week and 178,649 in the corresponding week a year ago.

For the year to date, auto output should rise to 1,995,208 units, compared with 1,892,329 through this week a year ago.

U.S. truck plants were slated to build an estimated 73,725 units this week, compared with 70,818 last week and 60,758 a year ago. For the year to date, U.S. truck output should rise to 722,690 units, compared with 622,997 a year ago.

Canadian car makers planned to turn out 29,444 autos this week, up from 24,300 last week and 27,755 in the corresponding week of 1976. For the year to date, Canadian output of 272,109 cars compares with 267,500 through this week a year ago.

Canadian truck output this week was set at 12,689 units, down from 13,131 last week but ahead of 11,201 in the corresponding week of 1975. For the year to date, Canadian truck output of 129,462 units is running ahead of the 110,001 built through his week a year ago.

Judicial Pay Hike Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill providing substantial pay increases for judges at all levels in Ohio deserves consideration by the General Assembly, Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill told the House Judiciary Committee today.

However, Ohio's top jurist stopped short of asking the legislature to approve the measure, saying it made him and other judges feel "uncomfortable."

O'Neill added, however, that he believes the performance of the state's judges in recent years in cutting backlogged court dockets, combined with increases in the cost of living since their last increase (November 1973) "justify some consideration."

O'Neill's own salary would be boosted from $43,500 to $54,375, while justices on the high court would be hiked from $40,000 to $50,000—in each case by 20 to 25 per cent.

Other judges from those in the 11 state appellate courts through courts of common pleas, including probate, to municipal judges would get hikes roughly averaging 25 per cent.

Other witnesses testified that since the last increase, the federal cost-of-living index rose by a total of 25.8 per cent.

Armchair Generals Game Masters

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Once a month, a small group of armchair generals gathers in a college classroom to refight some old battles — like Waterloo, Gettysburg and Stalingrad.

For hours, they pore over cardboard battlegrounds, deploying infantry battalions and artillery batteries into positions to destroy enemy units or seize a strategic hill or town.

The meetings are conducted by the Maine Wargamers Association, one of hundreds of similar groups around the country devoted to the fast-growing hobby.

The gameboards are scaled-down versions of historic battle sites, and the military units — represented by tiny cardboard chips — are the same ones that met in the actual encounters.

At one table, two players began the opening scenario of a complex game called "Wellington's Victory." Bob Kane of Portland was moving Napoleon's army into position to capture a village south of Waterloo. Larry Willwerth of Scarborough, heading an Anglo-Dutch force, was trying to block him.

The scenario is based on a preset number of moves by each player, and takes 10 to 12 hours to complete. "It would take 50 or 60 hours to play the whole game," said Kane.

Lengthy games are nothing new for dedicated wargamers. Willwerth, a 33-year-old engineer who has been involved in the hobby since 1958, attends national conventions that attract crowds of 2,500.

"We go to these tournaments once or twice a year, and we play for three straight days," he said.

Many wargamers say they got hooked on the hobby after tiring of chess. "Chess was designed as a war game, but it's not as realistic," said James Allard of Westbrook. Although dice are rolled in most games, players insist that skill and intelligence, not luck, determine the outcome.

In general, wargamers tend to be college-educated, with an interest in history, and many are former military officers. "People give us incredulous looks. They think we're a bunch of warmongers, but we're not," said Allard.

The wargaming boom got its start in the late 1950s, with the introduction of a game called Tactics II. Today, there are several hundred games to choose from, and the number of hobbyists nationwide probably ranges from 100,000 to 150,000. There are several national publications devoted to wargaming.

The games are based on battles dating back to the times of the Roman legions and earlier, and go up to Vietnam. Although most games are for two players, five association members were involved in a recreation of medieval England's Wars of the Roses.

There are a handful of games based on theoretical scenarios, including wars between NATO and Warsaw Pact powers, and on space age conflicts

Biter Seeks Jury Trial

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A man charged with biting the backside of a woman has pleaded innocent and requested a jury trial in Delaware County Municipal Court.

Jeremiah Shastid of Dayton is the featured singer and dancer in Jeremiah's Disco Review, a show that was being performed at the Riverside Country Club Feb. 23 when the incident occurred.

Shastid said Marjorie White was trying to pull off his g-string and wouldn't let go. That's when he bit her, he said. "I don't think she was trying to be vicious but she was hurting me," he said. "I couldn't get her hand away, so I bit her."

Shastid was arrested three days later and charged with assault. He is free on $100 bond.

This is the first time he has had any problem with a member of his audience in the two and one half years he has been doing the show which is aimed at female audiences, Shastid said.

Variable Tariffs Hurt U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has worked out an example of how the European Common Market is able to close the door on some U.S. farm products by using its so-called "variable levy" system of tariffs.

David L. Hume, administrator of the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, says that the variable levy is one of the major problems affecting U.S. trade with the Common Market.

Basically, as part of the Europeans' Common Agricultural Policy, when a foreign commodity is priced lower than a target price specified in the policy formula, an import tariff is levied to make it cost as much as the domestic product.

A conference of wheat producer and trade groups here this week heard Hume's explanation of how the system works.

Hume was unable to give the speech in person. It was delivered by a colleague, Deputy Assistant Administrator George White.

For example, the delivered price of U.S. wheat in Rotterdam on March 8 was $3.60 a bushel for No. 2 hard winter wheat. The Common Market's import levy on that day was $3.07 a bushel.

That meant that if a European importer wanted a shipment of Kansas wheat he had to pay $6.67 a bushel at the port of Rotterdam.

The variable levy is a perennial topic at talks under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). Export subsidies paid by the Common Market so its commodities can compete on the world market — and occasionally at less than world prices when a move is on to dispose of surpluses — are another complaint.

"There is no way for a non-community producer to be price competitive under such a system, and, unfortunately, there is no provision in the GATT dealing with these levies as such, because they were not a major problem when the GATT was drafted in 1947," Hume said.

Auto Output To Spiral This Week

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. weekly auto production was expected to soar to its highest levels of 1977 this week with an estimated 210,442 cars slated to roll off assembly lines.

The previous high for the year was 205,311 cars built two weeks ago.

The trade publication Automotive News said Wednesday that the latest planned output would mark the fifth time in six weeks that car-makers posted a newly weekly high for 1977.

Industry output was aided by the reopening of American Motors' Kenosha, Wis., plant, which was down last week for inventory adjustment.

The only plant idle this week is Chrysler's St. Louis facility, which is closed until March 28 for model changeover.

Saturday overtime has been scheduled for 11 General Motors assembly plants, 10 Ford plants and two Chrysler facilities.

Planned output this week compares with 205,283 cars built last week and 178,649 in the corresponding week a year ago.

For the year to date, auto output should rise to 1,995,208 units, compared with 1,892,329 through this week a year ago.

U.S. truck plants were slated to build an estimated 73,725 units this week, compared with 70,818 last week and 60,758 a year ago. For the year to date, U.S. truck output should rise to 722,690 units, compared with 622,997 a year ago.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Teach Your Child To Stay Alone

DEAR ABBY: About advising that an 8-year-old child should not be left alone for three hours after school: At 8, my daughter not only stayed alone, she started dinner. At 10 she could prepare any meal as well as I could. At 12 she is learning to make her own clothes. Society today is plagued with irresponsible youths who are coddled until they are 16, after which someone tries to teach them "responsibility." The result: Many healthy young adults on welfare.

Of course, there is a risk of leaving a child alone. But then again, when we send our children to school, they can be picked up, kidnapped or even murdered in broad daylight. But we don't quit sending them, do we?

If this 8-year-old has been properly taught, and if Mom calls regularly to check on her, she will be safe and responsible. And when the time comes where she has to handle a situation and Mamma is not there, she will be prepared.

RESPONSIBLE MOM

DEAR MOM: I applaud your efforts to teach your child responsibility and wish all parents would follow your fine example, but unfortunately you are the exception-not the rule. Most 8-year-olds without supervision are not as "safe" as your lucky youngster.

DEAR ABBY: My dad takes a bath at least three times a week-but not alone. He takes MY TV into the bathroom with him. I've tried reasoning with him, but it doesn't work. (I'd like to cuss him out, but since I'm only 13 years old, that wouldn't be a good idea.)

Dear old Dad is not a dumb man, but he just won't quit taking my TV. And my mom says she won't get involved. Can you think of an approach that would help?

'They Led The Way In Pickaway County'

Mrs. Bishop Giyen presented an informative paper entitled "They Led The Way In Pickaway County" for the Monday Club meeting which was held recently. The paper is a biographical sketch of seven women either presently residing in or formerly residing in Pickaway County.

Frances Abernathy Reeder, born in 1890, she was an author, musician and teacher. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Abernathy. She graduated in 1914 from Ohio Wesleyan, and taught Latin for several years in Fostoria. She wrote many songs and hymns.

Genevieve Estelle Jones, born in 1847, she was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Jones. She initiated the project of illustrating and describing the nests and eggs of all birds native to Ohio. She set out to do a book which would contain 68 plates and be a two volume set. The illustrations were to be lithographs drawn by hand on stone and then hand colored. Genevieve died of typhoid in 1879 with only four of the plates completed, but her family and friends carried on, with her mother helping to complete the work.

Dr. Emily E. Lutz, a native of Circleville, and a graduate of Circleville High School. She attended Ohio State University and graduated with a B.A. in Biological Science. She attended graduate school and received her Masters degree in Health and Physical Education. She taught Physical Education on the college level and began work on her doctorate. She entered Medical School and graduated in 1959 with a Doctor of Medicine degree. She did her internship in San Francisco, and served a four year residency in obstetrics and gynecology. She was chief last year. She is currently a practicing physician in Circleville and is a clinical assistant professor at Ohio State University.

Ann E. Snider Schluderberg, born in 1929, she was the daughter of Carle and Vera Snider. Ann attended school in Circleville, graduated with a BS from Ohio State, and received her Masters from John Hopkins University in 1956. She received her doctorate from John Hopkins, she was research associate in the field of infectious diseases at the University of Maryland. At present she is Senior Research Associate at Yale University School of Medicine. She has written 35 publications and 11 abstracts.

Mary Adele Snider Davis, born in 1924, and also the daughter of Carle and Vera Snider. She attended Circleville schools and graduated cum laude from Ohio State, with a B.A. She later graduated from Washington University, St. Louis, cum laude, with an MD and fourth in a class of 98. She was a pediatrician in St. Louis. She made a career change and became a psychiatrist and is currently associated with another woman in the field, treating adults and adolescents.

Mary Anne Yates Williams, is all of 27 years old, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Yates. She was salutatorian of her high school class. Other honors during her high school days included, being a Merit Society finalist, member of the National Honor Society, the English Merit Society and the Science and Drama Clubs. She received her B.A. from the University of Rochester and a M.S. from Carnegie Mellon University, she also received her doctorate from Carnegie. Mary Ann is the co-author of three articles dealing with nuclear and atomic physics. She is currently staff scientist at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

Miss May W. Lowe, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Lowe, and a member of the Monday Club. Her name is currently carried "In Memoriam". Several of the back issues of the Pickaway Quarterly carry articles written by Miss Lowe.

Mary Tyler Moore Show Has Finale After 26 Awards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "On the last day, Lou says, 'Cool it, be happy, let's not have any tears.' The writers used words that expressed our own feelings. They gave us a gift."

Gavin MacLeod was talking about the last episode of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," which airs at 8 p.m. EST Saturday night on CBS.

After seven years, 168 episodes and 26 Emmy awards, this classy — and classic — comedy series comes to an end. And it ends with a bang.

By now it should not be a surprise to anyone that a new owner buys WJMTV in Minneapolis and decides that his only real asset in the newsroom is anchorman Ted Baxter, played by Ted Knight. Headed for the unemployment line are Mary Richards (Moore), Lou Grant (Edward Asner), Murray Slaughter (MacLeod) and Sue Ann Nivens (Betty White), and on the last day at work they need some morale boosting.

As a matter of fact, so did the cast. "That was a sad week. We were very close," said MacLeod. "It was the happiest time of my life."

The show was not edited in time for a preview, but if the script is any indication, it should be a very funny show and a fitting climax for the series. Valerie Harper ("Rhoda") and Cloris Leachman ("Phyllis") return for this final episode.

"It's wonderful that a show can close of its own volition, that the original writers can write the closing," said MacLeod a few days after the final show was filmed before an audience of invited guests.

"I don't think you'll ever see this kind of show again. It was right for its time."

Executive producers James L. Brooks and Allan Burns, who created the series, wrote the final script, along with producers Ed Weinberger and Stan Daniels, David Lloyd and Bob Ellison. Jay Sandrich, who directed the pilot and most of the shows over the seven years, directed.

MacLeod was most noted for his vicious villains when he was asked to read for a part in the MTM pilot. He was just back from making "Kelly's Heroes" in Yugoslavia and had twice played murderous Big Chicken on "Hawaii Five-O."

DEAR STEAMED: Ask Pop to pop for a mini-TV and a suggestion on how you can earn it-for him! (P.S. And respectfully tell him not to touch the TV while he's in the tub, or he will get the shock of his life.)

DEAR ABBY: Will you please say a few words in defense of us wives who are constantly being accused of "murdering" our husbands by feeding them fattening foods?

My husband is overweight, and I am sick and tired of having people tell me it's my fault-and that I should "watch him." I serve well-balanced meals and try to keep the calories down. I never make rich desserts. I give him fruit instead. But he raids the refrigerator every night.

He took up golf, but he rides around in a golf cart, eating candy bars, so a lot of good "golfing" does him. After dinner he goes out to buy a paper, and he stops for a hot fudge sundae. So, how can I help him. Abby?

A FOOL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I could say a few words in your defense, but it won't hurt your husband. The only one who can help him is the one who does his eating.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HURT MOTHER": Don't ask your son to make a choice between his wife and you. If you've raised him right, you'll lose.

Betrothal Announced

MARCIA MARIE DAMSCHRODER

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Damschroder, Gibsonburg are announcing the engagement of their daughter Marcia Marie to Mr. David Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, of Mt. Sterling.

The bride elect is a graduate of Gibsonburg High School, and is currently attending the school of Nursing at Ohio State University.

Mr. Garrett, is a 1969 graduate of Westfall High School, attended Ohio State University and is presently engaged in farming.

A September wedding is being planned.

Retired Teachers Will Meet

Pickaway County Retired Teachers Associations, will meet 12:30 Saturday for a luncheon at the Pickaway Arms.

Guest speaker for the luncheon will be Mr. James T. Marsico, assistant director for the Ohio Theater.

'They Led The Way In Pickaway County'

Mrs. Bishop Given presented an informative paper entitled "They Led The Way In Pickaway County" for the Monday Club meeting which was held recently. The paper is a biographical sketch of seven women either presently residing in or formerly residing in Pickaway County.

Frances Abernathy Reeder, born in 1890, she was an author, musician and teacher. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Abernathy. She graduated in 1914 from Ohio Wesleyan, and taught Latin for several years in Fostoria. She wrote many songs and hymns.

Genevieve Estelle Jones, born in 1847, she was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Jones. She initiated the project of illustrating and describing the nests and eggs of all birds native to Ohio. She set out to do a book which would contain 68 plates and be a two volume set. The illustrations were to be lithographs drawn by hand on stone and then hand colored. Genevieve died of typhoid in 1879 with only four of the plates completed, but her family and friends carried on, with her mother helping to complete the work.

Dr. Emily E. Lutz, a native of Circleville, and a graduate of Circleville High School. She attended Ohio State University and graduated with a B.A. in Biological Science. She attended graduate school and received her Masters degree in Health and Physical Education. She taught Physical Education on the college level and began work on her doctorate. She entered Medical School and graduated in 1959 with a Doctor of Medicine degree. She did her internship in San Francisco, and served a four year residency in obstetrics and gynecology. She was chief last year. She is currently a practicing physician in Circleville and is a clinical assistant professor at Ohio State University.

Ann E. Snider Schluderberg, born in 1929, she was the daughter of Carle and Vera Snider. Ann attended school in Circleville, graduated with a BS from Ohio State, and received her Masters from John Hopkins University in 1956. She received her doctorate from John Hopkins, she was research associate in the field of infectious diseases at the University of Maryland. At present she is Senior Research Associate at Yale University School of Medicine. She has written 35 publications and 11 abstracts.

Mary Adele Snider Davis, born in 1924, and also the daughter of Carle and Vera Snider. She attended Circleville schools and graduated cum laude from Ohio State, with a B.A. She later graduated from Washington University, St. Louis, cum laude, with an MD and fourth in a class of 98. She was a pediatrician in St. Louis. She made a career change and became a psychiatrist and is currently associated with another woman in the field, treating adults and adolescents.

Mary Anne Yates Williams, is all of 27 years old, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Yates. She was salutatorian of her high school class. Other honors during her high school days included, being a Merit Society finalist, member of the National Honor Society, the English Merit Society and the Science and Drama Clubs. She received her B.A. from the University of Rochester and a M.S. from Carnegie Mellon University, she also received her doctorate from Carnegie. Mary Ann is the co-author of three articles dealing with nuclear and atomic physics. She is currently staff scientist at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

Miss May W. Lowe, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Lowe, and a member of the Monday Club. Her name is currently carried "In Memoriam". Several of the back issues of the Pickaway Quarterly carry articles written by Miss Lowe.

Mary Tyler Moore Show Has Finale After 26 Awards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "On the last day, Lou says, 'Cool it, be happy, let's not have any tears.' The writers used words that expressed our own feelings. They gave us a gift."

Gavin MacLeod was talking about the last episode of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," which airs at 8 p.m. EST Saturday night on CBS.

After seven years, 168 episodes and 26 Emmy awards, this classy — and classic — comedy series comes to an end. And it ends with a bang.

By now it should not be a surprise to anyone that a new owner buys WJMTV in Minneapolis and decides that his only real asset in the newsroom is anchorman Ted Baxter, played by Ted Knight. Headed for the unemployment line are Mary Richards (Moore), Lou Grant (Edward Asner), Murray Slaughter (MacLeod) and Sue Ann Nivens (Betty White), and on the last day at work they need some morale boosting.

As a matter of fact, so did the cast. "That was a sad week. We were very close," said MacLeod. "It was the happiest time of my life."

The show was not edited in time for a preview, but if the script is any indication, it should be a very funny show and a fitting climax for the series. Valerie Harper ("Rhoda") and Cloris Leachman ("Phyllis") return for this final episode.

"It's wonderful that a show can close of its own volition, that the original writers can write the closing," said MacLeod a few days after the final show was filmed before an audience of invited guests.

"I don't think you'll ever see this kind of show again. It was right for its time."

Executive producers James L. Brooks and Allan Burns, who created the series, wrote the final script, along with producers Ed Weinberger and Stan Daniels, David Lloyd and Bob Ellison. Jay Sandrich, who directed the pilot and most of the shows over the seven years, directed.

MacLeod was most noted for his vicious villains when he was asked to read for a part in the MTM pilot. He was just back from making "Kelly's Heroes" in Yugoslavia and had twice played murderous Big Chicken on "Hawaii Five-0."

Operating Levy Sought By School

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Voters in the McComb school district northwest of here will be asked May 17 to approve a 3.9-mill operating levy. Officials say rejection of the levy will mean the system will run out of money during the 1977-78 year and schools will have to close around Thanksgiving. A 2.3-mill request last November was turned down by a 51-vote margin.

Man Invents Rain-Proof Windshield

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — In a nation that loves gadgets and gimmicks — and pays royally for them even if they don't work — it seems someone would have beaten Joe Newman to his latest invention.

It's a rain-proof windshield without wipers.

That's right. Hook the device atop your car or truck and escape the blurring splatter of a thunderstorm or the irritating squish-squish-squish of wipers batting away at a summer shower.

At least Joe Newman, who once invented a knife with wings and plastic-coated barbells, says it works real fine.

"It is amazingly simple," said Newman, an athletic 40-year-old who has turned fiddling with gadgets into a livelihood. He unveiled his latest creation this week. "Inventing is the easiest part. I think everybody comes up with a great idea in their life. But sticking with it to see that it's produced is the hardest part," he said.

In brief "The Newman Windshield Rain Preventer" is an adjustable panel that shoots out above the windshield, to a maximum three feet, and keeps rain away something like an odd rectangular umbrella.

Newman said his inspiration came one day 12 years ago when a young fellow, driving in a summer rainstorm, couldn't see where he was going and crashed into Newman's car.

"I told the police it was a shame he got a ticket. It wasn't his fault. It was the inefficiency of his windshield wipers," he said.

That set him to thinking. What could do a better job than windshield wipers? Over the next several years he junked a few wrong-headed ideas but would be inspired again "every time I was out driving and it started raining."

He finally hit on the right gadget, he said, and hooked the device above his windshield by attaching poles to the luggage rack atop his car. He adjusted it by pulling ropes.

Pulling ropes, of course, would be too troublesome for drivers also steering the car, so he devised a small hydraulic pump that adjusts the panel with the twist of a wrist. Where the panel is set depends on how hard the rain is falling and how fast the car is going.

The invention is in the hands of his patent attorneys in Washington, he said, and he has been contacted by a few truck manufacturers who "think it works real well." He said he is planning overtures to carmakers, conceding that corporation designers one day will come up with a more sophisticated and esthetically pleasing model.

In the meantime he's pleased. "The automobile has been improved on time and again for nearly a century," he said, "but the windshield wiper went all that time with hardly a change for the better."

Newman is a graduate of the University of Alabama but gave up a white collar job for fulltime inventing 17 years ago.

He said inventing, design and theory come naturally to him and that he spends most of his time scribbling ideas on paper atop a table at home.

He has only a few more tools around the house than your ordinary homeowner, he said, but he has the full support of his wife, a big plus for a man who pays the bills, in part, by dreaming.

Local Courts Release Stats For February

Total cases filed and completed in Pickaway County and city courts has been released for the month of February.

In Municipal Court, 303 cases were filed, with 320 cases finished in the criminal bracket. Twenty-two civil cases were filed, with 48 being concluded. One marriage was performed. In the small claims division, 34 cases were filed, 52 cases were finished.

The total fines, bond forfeitures and costs collected during February was $10,163.83. Total due to the city is $3,976.58; to the county, $1,372.90 and $1,455 due to the Pickaway County Law Library Association. Together with these and totals due to the state treasurer, sheriff, village of South Bloomfield and the Natural Resources Department, the total disbursements is $10,163.83.

In the Court of Common Pleas for Pickaway County, 48 cases were filed during the month, 253 were pending on the first day of January for a total of 301. Of those, 254 were pending on the last day of the period. Of the 47 cases terminated during the month, 20 were dismissals, 15 by default, eight were heard by court trial and three by jury trial. One case was terminated by reason of pre-trial.

In the county's juvenile court docket, 25 delinquency cases were heard, 13 unruly, 21 traffic, three consents to marry and two adult cases. Ten boys were placed on probation and three girls.

Fifty-three cases were pending on Feb. 1, 64 cases were filed and terminated during February, with 53 still pending.

Schools Get Gas Break From PUCO

COLUMBUS Ohio, (AP) — A move that would mean Ohio schools won't have to close for lack of natural gas next year was approved Wednesday by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Schools that buy natural gas from Columbia Gas of Ohio are going to get a chance to switch from commercial to a special school category that will insure them of at least 70 per cent of all the gas they are promised.

Although a PUCO spokesman said switching categories would mean higher gas costs for the schools, William Chaddock, Columbia Gas spokesman, said company lawyers said that would not happen. He said that the commercial category that schools now are in pays no more for gas than do residential users.

Until the commission approved the new classification, schools had been lumped in with commercial customers and were severely curtailed this winter, as much as 85 per cent in some cases.

"Schools will have to decide whether to change classification before the beginning of either the winter heating season or summer no-heating season....Schools now can choose the best alternative to fit their specific needs. The commission has given them a very workable option they can use while still shouldering their responsibility in times of gas shortages," C. Luther Heckman, chairman of the PUCO, said.

In the Court of Common Pleas for Pickaway County, 48 cases were filed during the month, 253 were pending on the first day of January for a total of 301. Of those, 254 were pending on the last day of the period. Of the 47 cases terminated during the month, 20 were dismissals, 15 by default, eight were heard by court trial and three by jury trial. One case was terminated by reason of pre-trial.

In the county's juvenile court docket, 25 delinquency cases were heard, 13 unruly, 21 traffic, three consents to marry and two adult cases. Ten boys were placed on probation and three girls.

Fifty-three cases were pending on Feb. 1, 64 cases were filed and terminated during February, with 53 still pending.

Schools Get Gas Break From PUCO

COLUMBUS Ohio, (AP) — A move that would mean Ohio schools won't have to close for lack of natural gas next year was approved Wednesday by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Schools that buy natural gas from Columbia Gas of Ohio are going to get a chance to switch from commercial to a special school category that will insure them of at least 70 per cent of all the gas they are promised.

Although a PUCO spokesman said switching categories would mean higher gas costs for the schools, William Chaddock, Columbia Gas spokesman, said company lawyers said that would not happen. He said that the commercial category that schools now are in pays no more for gas than do residential users.

Until the commission approved the new classification, schools had been lumped in with commercial customers and were severely curtailed this winter, as much as 85 per cent in some cases.

"Schools will have to decide whether to change classification before the beginning of either the winter heating season or summer no-heating season....Schools now can choose the best alternative to fit their specific needs. The commission has given them a very workable option they can use while still shouldering their responsibility in times of gas shortages," C. Luther Heckman, chairman of the PUCO, said.

The Rev. Dr. Harold Dutt will be preaching at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Sunday. His sermon topic will be "Jesus Is Lord."

The Rev. David F. Frazer will be preaching the sermon entitled "Show Us Anew Jesus' Miracles" at Community United Methodist Church Sunday.

The Rev. Virgle Barnett, the new property manager for the state convention of Baptists in Ohio, will preach this Sunday at the Logan Elm Baptist Church. Services are held in the 4-H and Grange Building at the fairgrounds.

Dr. Frank J. Irvine has selected "The Service Begins When The Meeting Ends" as his sermon topic Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church.

The mid week lenten service will be 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Trinity Lutheran Church in the church basement.

Jehovah's Witnesses in the Circleville area resume their regular scheduled activities this week after attending their circuit assembly in London. There were 730 in attendance Sunday afternoon to hear the talk, "Follow The Way of Life". The speaker, John D. Busby of Brooklyn, New York, discussed the way of life as outlined in the Scriptures.

The Happiness Choir of the Community United Methodist Church will be singing at the East Ringgold United Methodist Church 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Utility Payments Studied By Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two utility representatives told a Senate committee Thursday that the companies make an effort to consider individual cases in dealing with delinquent accounts.

The Energy and Public Utilities Committee heard testimony on a bill, sponsored by Sen. John T. McCormack, D-31 Euclid, that would require public utilities to meet three conditions before shutting off water, gas or electricity service.

The utility spokesmen also said the extra costs they envision as a result of passage of the bill would end up costing customers who pay their bills on time.

The first condition requires that the bill must be at least 30 days past due. Next the utility would be required to pay a visit to the customer's home in an attempt to collect or at least make payment arrangements. Finally, the welfare department would evaluate the account to "determine the impact of the cutoff on the customer and his family."

Russ Gifford, vice president of East Ohio Gas Co.'s Cleveland division, set the tone of testimony saying:

"Thus, at the very outset it should be appreciated by everyone that the Ohio public, and not the utilities or the county welfare departments, will ultimately pay for any program that is placed into effect as a result of S.B. No. 70 (the McCormack bill)."

Gifford noted that the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has forbidden gas companies from turning off service for any reason until March 31 and claimed that move already has cost the company money in administrative areas.

During a normal February, he said, East Ohio would send out 20,000 service termination notices. He claimed the PUCO order had emboldened natural gas customers to the point where 40,000 shutoff notices would have been mailed if the utility were allowed to terminate service.

East Ohio serves 920,000 homes in 18 counties in Northeast Ohio. Gifford said only 13 per cent of those customers represent chronically delinquent accounts, and he claimed, the "majority" of the bad accounts can afford to pay but don't.

Controlling Board Given Flexibility

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State lawmakers have sent Gov. James A. Rhodes a bill giving the controlling board more flexibility in the management of Ohio's emergency fund.

Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said the bill could be especially important if Ohio gets hit with another disaster, such as spring floods, between now and the end of the fiscal biennium July 1.

The board, under the bill, could require state agencies borrowing from the emergency fund to repay the controlling board.

Under present law, agencies return borrowed sums to the general revenue fund, after which it takes an act of the legislature to reappropriate them.

John D. Loudermilk: Family Man

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Fighting a losing battle against self-control, country-folk singer John D. Loudermilk has forsaken frivolity of an earlier era and channeled his energy toward his family.

"I have seen so many tragedies in this town in the music business," he said. "It's no one's fault. It's just the way it is — the big car, the big house, just all the trappings."

"If I had stayed around here, I know I would've burned myself out. I've watched it ruin guy after guy after guy."

Loudermilk, 42, a native of Durham, N.C., lived and recorded his music here for 15 years, before divorcing, remarrying and traveling to Europe with his three sons in 1971.

Hits like "Tobacco Road," "I Wanna Live," "Waterloo" and "Ablene" are among the 600 he has written. Some have been recorded by Waylon Jennings, Perry Como, Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Orchestra and the Jefferson Airplane.

When they returned from Europe, Loudermilk and his family moved to Lafayette, La.

"We wanted a place that was warm and semi-tropical," he said. "We wanted to get out of the mainstream."

That's when he turned attention to his family.

"I've been through a lot of things that have been other than songwriting and sometimes I wonder if that has been the better part of my judgment," he said.

"My family is the most important thing to me. It used not to be. One point when I was much younger, Nashville was my playground, but as I grew older I realized that a family is all you have."

Loudermilk spends nearly all his time with his songwriting and his family, his wife, Susan and his sons, John Jr., 19, Rick, 18, and Mike, 16.

Loudermilk said it took him years to conquer the way of life in the music business here.

"It was mostly hedonistic foolishness. It was materialistic," he said. "It was the accumulation of petty toys, and I've been through all of that. When you go through it and take a look at it, you realize just how foolish it is."

"I didn't have a lick of sense until I was 30. There were general interplanetary truths, facts of life, that had not even crossed my mind until I was 30."

Every summer, Loudermilk and his family crawl into their trailer and travel. They have visited every state in the nation, plus Mexico, Germany, France, England, Italy, Spain and East Germany. The songwriter said he wants to take his family to Russia and China in the near future.

His sons collected mounds of scrapbooks, offering them an understanding of other cultures and ways of life.

The Wonder Time

It was such a cold winter. The trees were stark, dead. The church looked old, tired. Spirits sagged.

Then, one day, there was a miracle. There were buds, swelling into flowers, the grass began to green, and the church seemed to straighten itself, thrusting the cross high toward the heavens.

Again, the promise had been fulfilled. Again, life began anew and hope stirred and somehow God seemed closer, even though actually He had been right there, all along.

Spring is a wonder time. A time for living, a time for loving. A very special time, for God and His Church.

"It was mostly hedonistic foolishness. It was materialistic," he said. "It was the accumulation of petty toys, and I've been through all of that. When you go through it and take a look at it, you realize just how foolish it is."

"I didn't have a lick of sense until I was 30. There were general interplanetary truths, facts of life, that had not even crossed my mind until I was 30."

Every summer, Loudermilk and his family crawl into their trailer and travel. They have visited every state in the nation, plus Mexico, Germany, France, England, Italy, Spain and East Germany. The songwriter said he wants to take his family to Russia and China in the near future.

His sons collected mounds of scrapbooks, offering them an understanding of other cultures and ways of life.

The Wonder Time

It was such a cold winter. The trees were stark, dead. The church looked old, tired. Spirits sagged.

Then, one day, there was a miracle. There were buds, swelling into flowers, the grass began to green, and the church seemed to straighten itself, thrusting the cross high toward the heavens.

Again, the promise had been fulfilled. Again, life began anew and hope stirred and somehow God seemed closer, even though actually He had been right there, all along.

Spring is a wonder time. A time for living, a time for loving. A very special time, for God and His Church.

Some rather strange things happen when the mix-up gremlins begin cavorting as for instance in last week's column I was writing about the always highly successful Gospel Sing but with the gremlins on the job it didn't come out quite that way. Even so, no real harm done since the person referred to is also a highly successful individual and goodness knows Gil Conley is a capable and hard worker.

While on the subject of the Gospel Show let us remind you it will be held this year on April 9 at Westfall High School. Monroe Men's Club President Frank Newmiller expects this year's show to be one of the greatest to be presented and is busy as can be preparing for the big event. It takes many spokes in the wheel for any venture to be a success and along with the hard working president are faithful stalwarts Edward Stewart, Clarence Boyer, Andy Stapleton, Basil Green, Bob Dennis, Bob See, Dick Everman and so goes the list.

Feature attraction of the 1977 Gospel Show will be Willie Wynn and the Tennesseans from Nashville along with The Dixie Melody Boys, Hopper Brothers and Connie and The Crusaders. Advance ticket sales provide an excellent opportunity to save a dollar per ticket and can be purchased locally at Osterle's Market and from Charles Galloway. Also handling advance sales are Winfough's Market at Five Points, Marshall McFarland, Gil Conley and club members.

Another local event on April 9 is the second annual Jaycees Consignment Sale. This sale proved quite popular and successful last year. It is a wonderful way to dispose of unwanted items. The past few days of balmy breezes have turned most homemakers thoughts to spring house cleaning so while in the process be sure to keep the consignment sale up-permost in mind.

Legion Fish Fry

American Legion Post 618 has plans in the making for a fish fry for April 2 which will be on a Saturday. Mark your calendar now and we will give more of the details next column.

Community Square

March 27 is THE day for the door to door canvass for Shares of the Square. Let us hope it will prove to be a red letter day in the annals of fund raising. To date $5,240. has been contributed with $20,000 to be raised by May 1.

Following is a complete list of those who have thus far contributed: Hazel Galloway, Deercreek Auto Parts Depot, Cecil Galloway, C.K. McFarland and Sons, Charles Galloway, John Cook, Gil Conley, George Hamman, Glen and Nell Ater, Wilma Jean Chew, Mrs. Walter Lewis and Beverly, Martha Tipton Hicks, Esta Tipton, John and Norma Jean Drummond, Dorsey Bumgarner, Mary Alice Luellen Harness.

The Dairy Shed, Williamsport United Methodist Women, Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Women, Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews, Sorosis Club, Robert Shaeffer, Gertrude Schleich, Evelyn Kaiser, Angie List, Pat Clark, Helen McDill, Russell McDill, Viola Myers, Child Study League, Amy Easterday, Mark Schein, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman, Deercreek Dam Days Festival, Circle D Recreation, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schein, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, American Legion Auxiliary, American Legion Post 618, Twila West, United Methodist Church, L. Robert Liston, Don Strous, Mr. and Mrs. Paul

Rotary Club Meets

At the weekly meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club, Walt Spangler read a proclamation of the Ohio House of Representatives recognized Karl Hermann and Paul Johnson for being charter members of the Circleville Rotary Club. The proclamation was sponsored by Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker of the 88th District.

The proclamation read in part, "A dynamic force in the success of the organization, you have had the rare opportunity of watching the Circleville Rotary Club grow in membership and stature, and you may be justifiably proud of the lasting contributions you and your fellow members have made to the progress and prosperity of your city."

Dick Tootle announced that the donkey basketball game would be played on March 30. The annual auction for crippled children will be held next Thursday. All members are asked to participate.

New Harden showed a film promoting the high quality of American workmanship as compared with foreign countries.

Northridge C Of C Sets Mission Goal

The Northridge Church of Christ will hold a Faith Promise Missionary Commitment Day Sunday. The church has set a goal of $3,000 this year for world evangelism.

Lester Pifer, director of development of Kentucky Christian College and "His People," a singing group from the college will present the service Sunday.

Schein, Mary L. Gearheart, Mrs. Beatrice Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose, G. W. Reynolds Ins., Bernice Hulse, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Lemming, Margaret Remy, Mrs. Jack Mitchell, Dorothy Schleich Albright, James R. Hamman, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Akers, Mildred L. Needham, Ladies Aid Christian Church, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bidwell, Mrs. Alice Tipton Seeds, Madelyn Howard Bendure.

A number of contributions have been given in memory and they are as follows: Margaret Anderson, Warren Straley, Grace Schein, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anderson, Marie Dunlap, Galen Carter, Crissie Wing, Hannah Schein, Lester L. List, Harry Timmons, Rezin and Ann Bonner Wolfe, Russell Howard. In some instances a memorial donation has been made more than once for the same person.

A few weeks ago I urged everyone to save code markings to aid kidney victims. We have encountered something of a mystery in that a direct recipient has yet to be found who has benefitted. In trying to unravel the mystery we keep hearing about someone who knows someone who will look further into the matter and so it goes. We have one little lady who has made calls to Cincinnati trying to ferret out something definite and she ran into the someone who knows maze.

We would suggest that all those who have so earnestly entered into the project not to be discouraged just yet but hang in there and keep the faith until we get to the bottom of the whole situation at which time we will know where to forward the markings or else give the word to destroy what has been saved.

With the break in the harsh weather social life has begun to perk up a bit. First off for Dorothy and Gene Bush they hosted a family get together in honor of daughter Diane's birthday week ago Sunday. Other guests were Diane's hubby Pat Eyck and daughters Kristi and Danielle from Chillicothe, Ron and Marilyn Bush and boys Mike and Tim.

Houseguests of the Bushes this past weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Booth of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heisel from Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dodson of Centerville a suburb of Dayton.

Mary Alice Greenwood joined with several others and journeyed to Chicago via chartered bus for a lively two days of tours of the Mercantile Exchange (livestock) and Board of Trades (grain). Purpose was to gain an insight into the livestock and grain marketing. Tom and Karla Barnes, Williamsport residents also, participated in the tour, too.

The joyous sound of a happy family gathering amidst the singing of Happy Birthday makes for the nicest sounds in the entire universe and so it was last Sunday in the Crownover Road home of Bob and Alice Cornwell. Enjoying the fellowship and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. George Myers and daughter Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Little and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Meri Hedges, Miss Gladys Little, and Miss Connie Little all of Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sampill and son Rick from South Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ferguson and daughter Tammi of Darbydale, Jerry, John and David Cornwell of home.

Afternoon guests included Mr. and

Mrs. Paul Cornwell and son Dale and Mrs. Virginia Cornwell all from Circleville. Birthday celebrants were David Cornwell, Miss Gladys Little and Bob's mother Mrs. Virginia Cornwell who was adding her 83rd. Mrs. Myers (Marjorie), Mrs. Sampill (Geraldine), Mrs. Hedges (Anna Mae), Alice, Gladys and Connie Little and Clarence Little are sisters and brother and it was their first family get together in quite a while. Despite a nasty fall on the ice and pending hospitalization Alice says it was terrific having everyone together.

Pete and Pearl Cochenour have a special knack for making guests feel welcome and enjoying their hospitality in recent days have been Roy Brayshaw of Monaco, Pennsylvania who visited from week ago Monday until Thursday, then David and Becky Johnson (granddaughter and her husband) of near Cincinnati visited, on Tuesday their daughter Valli (Mrs. Bill) Long of Daartown was here and coming in Wednesday for a few days with their grandparents were Jackie Long (on spring break from Miami U) and Brett Long, also on spring break, of Daartown.

Yours truly has been carrying Route 2 mail this week while the regular carrier Ruth Long takes a spring break to enjoy the company of daughter Jan Long, a Miami U. junior who is "breaking", too. The very first day on the route it absolutely poured buckets of rain and there was no way to avoid getting soaked so now this cat has a perfectly miserable cold (all together now — pity party — ahh)

One thing I have become keenly aware of while carrying the mail is the utter disregard of people when disposing of litter, especially bottles. The roads are almost hazardous to travel because of broken glass and-or bottles that pose a constant threat to the well being of vehicle tires. It's disgraceful!

The Easterdays are really in to house re-doing projects what with Marc and Debbie preparing their newly purchased home for residency and down on the other corner Shana Wills and her fiance Sam Snyder scrub and paint away on the Easterday rental getting it shaped up for their occupancy following a June wedding.

J. M. and Irma Bailey of Columbus and Craig Bailey of Grove City spent most of the weekend in our town helping the younger Easterdays with house remodeling. J.M. and Irma are Debbie's grandparents and Craig is her brother.

John and Norma Gillfillan of near Piqua (my one and only sister and her spouse) took time out from a busy schedule to stop by for a while Sunday. The first of April they will jet out for several days in Las Vegas, a gift from my sister's boss.

Local resident Cora Lee Beatty is presently in Las Vegas. Wonder how many jackpots she has hit?

A very productive meeting of interested Festival folks was held Monday evening in Legion Hall. Results next week.

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care. Think About: Fearless minds climb soonest into crowns.

Farm Electrical Use Spurs

WASHINGTON (AP) — American farmers used 13.5 per cent more electricity last year than in 1975. This year they face not only a 10 per cent price increase but rationing in the drought-afflicted West, two agricultural energy experts say.

"Rationing of both electric power and water is a certainty during this growing season," wrote Earle Gavett and R. Thomas Van Arsdall in the current issue of the Economic Research Service's Agricultural Outlook magazine.

More than half the electricity generated in the irrigation-dependent Rocky Mountain and Far West states comes from hydroelectric power stations — a source already strained by the long dry spell's impact on river flows.

The need for hydroelectric dams for irrigation is one of the problems cited by opponents of President Carter's bid to cancel 19 water-development projects.

The Agriculture Department experts said the problem of drought-reduced electricity supplies will be compounded by farmers who have to pump water from wells to make up for what they miss from damspawnd irrigation sources.

"Some farmers may be forced to pump irrigation water only at night during off-peak hours to maximize electric systems' generating capabilities," the Gavett-Van Arsdall article said.

Bill Would Waive Jail Sentences

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's mandatory, three-day jail sentence for drunk drivers could be waived under a bill now pending in the Ohio Senate.

However, Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, stipulated in the bill be introduced Thursday that a judge could waive the sentence only after the defendant agreed to a prescribed course in driver improvement.

Another current requirement for an automatic 30-day suspension of drivers' licenses also could be waived under the same conditions.

Some rather strange things happen when the mix-up gremlins begin cavorting as for instance in last week's column I was writing about the always highly successful Gospel Sing but with the gremlins on the job it didn't come out quite that way. Even so, no real harm done since the person referred to is also a highly successful individual and goodness knows Gil Conley is a capable and hard worker.

While on the subject of the Gospel Show let us remind you it will be held this year on April 9 at Westfall High School. Monroe Men's Club President Frank Newmiller expects this year's show to be one of the greatest to be presented and is busy as can be preparing for the big event. It takes many spokes in the wheel for any venture to be a success and along with the hard working president are faithful stalwarts Edward Stewart, Clarence Boyer, Andy Stapleton, Basil Green, Bob Dennis, Bob See, Dick Everman and so goes the list.

Feature attraction of the 1977 Gospel Show will be Willie Wynn and the Tennesseans from Nashville along with The Dixie Melody Boys, Hopper Brothers and Connie and The Crusaders. Advance ticket sales provide an excellent opportunity to save a dollar per ticket and can be purchased locally at Oesterle's Market and from Charles Galloway. Also handling advance sales are Winfough's Market at Five Points, Marshall McFarland, Gil Conley and club members.

Another local event on April 9 is the second annual Jaycees Consignment Sale. This sale proved quite popular and successful last year. It is a wonderful way to dispose of unwanted items. The past few days of balmy breezes have turned most homemakers thoughts to spring house cleaning so while in the process be sure to keep the consignment sale upmost in mind.

Legion Fish Fry
American Legion Post 618 has plans in the making for a fish fry for April 2 which will be on a Saturday. Mark your calendar now and we will give more of the details next column.

Community Square
March 27 is THE day for the door to door canvass for Shares of the Square. Let us hope it will prove to be a red letter day in the annals of fund raising. To date $5,240. has been contributed with $20,000 to be raised by May 1.

Following is a complete list of those who have thus far contributed: Hazel Galloway, Deercreek Auto Parts Depot, Cecil Galloway, C.K. McFarland and Sons, Charles Galloway, John Cook, Gil Conley, George Hamman, Glen and Nell Ater, Wilma Jean Chew, Mrs. Walter Lewis and Beverly, Martha Tipton Hicks, Esta Tipton, John and Norma Jean Drummond, Dorsey Bumgarner, Mary Alice Luellen Harness.

The Dairy Shed, Williamsport United Methodist Women, Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Women, Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews, Sorosis Club, Robert Shaeffer, Gertrude Clark, Evelyn Kaiser, Angie List, Pat Clark, Helen McDill, Russell McDill, Viola Myers, Child Study League, Amy Easterday, Mark Schein, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman, Deercreek Dam Days Festival, Circle D Recreation, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schein, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, American Legion Auxiliary, American Legion Post 618, Twila West, United Methodist Church, L. Robert Liston, Don Strous, Mr. and Mrs. Paul

Rotary Club Meets

At the weekly meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club, Walt Spangler read a proclamation of the Ohio House of Representatives recognizing Karl Hermann and Paul Johnson for being charter members of the Circleville Rotary Club. The proclamation was sponsored by Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker of the 88th District.

The proclamation read in part, "A dynamic force in the success of the organization, you have had the rare opportunity of watching the Circleville Rotary Club grow in membership and stature, and you may be justifiably proud of the lasting contributions you and your fellow members have made to the progress and prosperity of your city."

Dick Tootle announced that the donkey basketball game would be played on March 30. The annual auction for crippled children will be held next Thursday. All members are asked to participate.

New Harden showed a film promoting the high quality of American workmanship as compared with foreign countries.

Northridge C Of C Sets Mission Goal

The Northridge Church of Christ will hold a Faith Promise Missionary Commitment Day Sunday. The church has set a goal of $3,000 this year for world evangelism.

Lester Pifer, director of development of Kentucky Christian College and "His People," a singing group from the college will present the service Sunday.

Schein, Mary L. Gearheart, Mrs. Beatrice Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose, G. W. Reynolds Ins., Bernice Hulise, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Lemming, Margaret Remy, Mrs. Jack Mitchell, Dorothy Schleich Albright, James R. Hamman, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Akers, Mildred L. Needham, Ladies Aid Christian Church, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bidwell, Mrs. Alice Tipton Seeds, Madelyn Howard Bendure.

A number of contributions have been given in memory and they are as follows: Margaret Anderson, Warren Straley, Grace Schein, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anderson, Marie Dunlap, Galen Carter, Crissie Wing, Hannah Schein, Lester L. List, Harry Timmons, Rezin and Ann Bonner Wolfe, Russell Howard. In some instances a memorial donation has been made more than once for the same person.

A few weeks ago I urged everyone to save code markings to aid kidney victims. We have encountered something of a mystery in that a direct recipient has yet to be found who has benefited. In trying to unravel the mystery we keep hearing about someone who knows someone who knows someone who knows someone who will look further into the matter and so it goes. We have one little lady who has made calls to Cincinnati trying to ferret out something definite and she ran into the someone who knows maze.

We would suggest that all those who have so earnestly entered into the project not to be discouraged just yet but hang in there and keep the faith until we get to the bottom of the whole situation at which time we will know where to forward the markings or else give the word to destroy what has been saved.

With the break in the harsh weather social life has begun to perk up a bit. First off for Dorothy and Gene Bush they hosted a family get together in honor of daughter Diane's birthday week ago Sunday. Other guests were Diane's hubby Pat Eyck and daughters Kristi and Danielle from Chillicothe, Ron and Marilyn Bush and boys Mike and Tim.

Houseguests of the Bushes this past weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Booth of Chillicothe, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heisel from Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dodson of Centerville a suburb of Dayton.

Mary Alice Greenwood joined with several others and journeyed to Chicago via chartered bus for a lively two days of tours of the Mercantile Exchange (livestock) and Board of Trades (grain). Purpose was to gain an insight into the livestock and grain marketing. Tom and Karla Barnes, Williamsport residents also, participated in the tour, too.

The joyous sound of a happy family gathering amidst the singing of Happy Birthday makes for the nicest sounds in the entire universe and so it was last Sunday in the Crownover Road home of Bob and Alice Cornwell. Enjoying the fellowship and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. George Myers and daughter Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Little and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Meri Hedges, Miss Gladys Little, and Miss Connie Little all of Ashville, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sampsill and son Rick from South Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ferguson and daughter Tammi of Darbydale, Jerry, John and David Cornwell of home.

Afternoon guests included Mr. and

Mrs. Paul Cornwell and son Dale and Mrs. Virginia Cornwell all from Circleville. Birthday celebrants were David Cornwell, Miss Gladys Little and Bob's mother Mrs. Virginia Cornwell who was adding her 83rd. Mrs. Myers (Marjorie), Mrs. Sampsill (Geraldine), Mrs. Hedges (Anna Mae), Alice, Gladys and Connie Little and Clarence Little are sisters and brother and it was their first family get together in quite a while. Despite a nasty fall on the ice and pending hospitalization Alice says it was terrific having everyone together.

Pete and Pearl Cochenour have a special knack for making guests feel welcome and enjoying their hospitality in recent days have been Roy Brayshaw of Monaco, Pennsylvania who visited from week ago Monday until Thursday, then David and Becky Johnson (granddaughter and her husband) of near Cincinnati visited, on Tuesday their daughter Valli (Mrs. Bill) Long of Daartown was here and coming in Wednesday for a few days with their grandparents were Jackie Long (on spring break from Miami U) and Brett Long, also on spring break, of Daartown.

Yours truly has been carrying Route 2 mail this week while the regular carrier Ruth Long takes a spring break to enjoy the company of daughter Jan Long, a Miami U. junior who is "breaking", too. The very first day on the route it absolutely poured buckets of rain and there was no way to avoid getting soaked so now this cat has a perfectly miserable cold (all together now — pity party — ah)

One thing I have become keenly aware of while carrying the mail is the utter disregard of people when disposing of litter, especially bottles. The roads are almost hazardous to travel because of broken glass and-or bottles that pose a constant threat to the well being of vehicle tires. It's disgraceful!

The Easterdays are really in to house re-doing projects what with Marc and Debbie preparing their newly purchased home for residency and down on the other corner Shana Wills and her fiance Sam Snyder scrub and paint away on the Easterday rental getting it shaped up for their occupancy following a June wedding.

J. M. and Irma Bailey of Columbus and Craig Bailey of Grove City spent most of the weekend in our town helping the younger Easterdays with house remodeling. J.M. and Irma are Debbie's grandparents and Craig is her brother.

John and Norma Gillfillan of near Piqua (my one and only sister and her spouse) took time out from a busy schedule to stop by for a while Sunday. The first of April they will jet out for several days in Las Vegas, a gift from my sister's boss.

Local resident Cora Lee Beatty is presently in Las Vegas. Wonder how many jackpots she has hit?

A very productive meeting of interested Festival folks was held Monday evening in Legion Hall. Results next week.

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care.

Farm Electrical Use Spurs

WASHINGTON (AP) — American farmers used 13.5 per cent more electricity last year than in 1975. This year they face not only a 10 per cent price increase but rationing in the drought-afflicted West, two agricultural energy experts say.

"Rationing of both electric power and water is a certainty during this growing season," wrote Earle Gavett and R. Thomas Van Arsdall in the current issue of the Economic Research Service's Agricultural Outlook magazine.

More than half the electricity generated in the irrigation-dependent Rocky Mountain and Far West states comes from hydroelectric power stations — a source already strained by the long dry spell's impact on river flows.

The need for hydroelectric dams for irrigation is one of the problems cited by opponents of President Carter's bid to cancel 19 water-development projects.

The Agriculture Department experts said the problem of drought-reduced electricity supplies will be compounded by farmers who have to pump water from wells to make up for what they miss from damspawnd irrigation sources.

"Some farmers may be forced to pump irrigation water only at night during off-peak hours to maximize electric systems' generating capabilities," the Gavett-Van Arsdall article said.

Bill Would Waive Jail Sentences

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's mandatory, three-day jail sentence for drunk drivers could be waived under a bill now pending in the Ohio Senate.

However, Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, stipulated in the bill be introduced Thursday that a judge could waive the sentence only after the defendant agreed to a prescribed course in driver improvement.

Another current requirement for an automatic 30-day suspension of drivers' licenses also could be waived under the same conditions.

GOP Showing Signs Of Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Grand Old Party, a distinct minority, aided by the slow early pace of the majority in the 112th General Assembly, is beginning to show signs of life at the Statehouse.

Senate Republicans, a band of 12 in the 33-member upper chamber, have hired two new staff aides in an effort to shape a positive, constructive image. "You can't just be negative every time they (Democrats) do something," one Republican said. "It turns people off."

Al Porkolab, a longtime aide to former U.S. Rep. Charles A. Mosher, will oversee press relations and help develop policy.

James R. Tilling, who left his post as professor of political science at Ohio University, will research issues, assist in speech-writing, and work with all members on press relations.

Meanwhile, a new member of the minority leadership team, Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R19 Ashland, has emerged as an activist in the caucus. Van Meter, 33, has a flair for publicity and isn't afraid to take on the Democratic heavyweight. More importantly he is also a hard behind-the-scenes worker who already is thinking about the 1978 legislative elections.

In the House, Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, after surviving some post-election bitterness among some members of his caucus, has made the Republican position more visible.

GOP representatives, who introduce "policy bills" as alternatives to major Democratic proposals, detail their plans in carefully written press releases that indicate they have backing from the 37-member Republican caucus.

Kurfess has also assembled an attractive group of mostly female administrative aides and interns that some Statehouse matchers have dubbed "Charlie's Angels."

Parallel to all of this, the veteran Toledo-area attorney is encouraging speculation that he will run for governor in 1978. Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney of Cincinnati has also let it be known that he is considering a bid.

With 1984, just a few elections away, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, author of the state's privacy law, is ever-cognizant of creeping big brotherism—the myriad of personal records compiled by state and local government agencies.

"Right in this building, we are doing it," he told members of the Ohio Information Control Board, meeting earlier this week in the 41-story State Office Tower.

"We don't do it consciously," he said, but "the effect of these record systems that we have here is a dossier on every Ohioan."

Reverse Convictions In Lucasville Cases

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Five of 14 inmates found guilty of attempting to escape from the Lucasville penitentiary three years ago have had their convictions reversed.

The 4th District Court of Appeals ordered additional hearings for three others and upheld the convictions of the remaining six men.

All the inmates were found guilty of trying to break out of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility during a strike by guards May 18, 1974.

The court reversed the convictions of Johnny C. Proctor, 25; Donald Tucker, 22; William Harrell, 23; George Castle, 27, and Adrian Hanni, 23.

The court held in the cases of Castle and Hanni that the prosecution's use in final arguments of the fact they had remained silent during pretrial interrogation was improper.

In the cases of Proctor, Harrell and Tucker, the court held it was an error for the trial judges not to instruct the jury on the defense of duress.

The three claimed the reason they escaped was because conditions inside the penitentiary made them fearful. The court upheld the convictions of Robert Allen Stewart, 26; John Ray Stutts, 29; Thomas Kinik, 41; Lee

Atterbury, 29; James Valentine, 27, and Robert Scheib, 31.

Additional hearings were ordered for William Carter, 29; Samuel Bernard Jr., 34, and Roger Lowe, 26, to determine if it was necessary for them to have been shackled while in the courtroom.

The trial judge ruled that the necessity for keeping them in chains during the trial was a matter for the sheriff to determine. The appellate court held this was the jurisdiction of the judge conducting the trial.

Judge Earl Stephenson wrote the opinions, issued Wednesday, in which Judge Homer E. Abele concurred. Judge Gordon Gray, who heard arguments in the cases is now retired from the court.

In upholding the six convictions, the court overruled claims that the accused inmates should have been granted a change of venue and that they were placed in double jeopardy by their trials.

Rocky Plans Portrait

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, who was governor of New York longer than all but one other New York chief executive, plans to put up the second-largest official portrait.

Rockefeller aides said Thursday that the former governor's official portrait will arrive at the capitol next week to be hung in the marble "hall of governors." Twenty-nine other portraits are hung in the hall.

The painting and frame — measuring 80-by-70 inches — is second in size to the picture of Gov. George Clinton, which hangs in the Capitol's Red Room, the ceremonial office of the governor.

Clinton, the state's first governor, served 18 years. Rockefeller's tenure was 15 years.

Fishes Provide Good Fertilizer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources says fish killed as a result of severe winter weather can provide excellent fertilizer for home gardens and flower beds.

Wildlife Division chief Dale Haney said persons living near lakes and ponds should not be alarmed if dead fish appear along the shorelines.

"In many cases, the number of fish seen represents a small percentage of the total fish population of a lake," Haney said. "Dead fish will decompose rapidly and return fertility to the water, in addition to providing food for raccoons, crayfish, turtles and birds."

Hanoi Teems With Construction

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — At first glance it looks like the war is still on.

Russian-built military trucks clog Hanoi's narrow streets. Green uniforms and pith helmets dominate the fashion scene on the crowded sidewalks.

Then you see that the trucks are filled with bricks, sand and other building materials, coming into the city to be used in rebuilding bombed buildings. Five years ago at the height of the war the trucks were loaded with ammunition and weapons and were heading out of town to war fronts in the South.

And on closer inspection, most of the people in military gear are not soldiers. They're workers utilizing the most available clothing.

What has not changed in Hanoi is the beehive industriousness that impressed visitors in the past. Now it is directed at rebuilding.

Highway billboards that used to display heroic pictures of peasant gunners shooting down American aircraft now extol the virtues of farming and show giant cabbages and tractors.

Newspapers that headlined accounts of victories over "the imperialist lackeys of the Americans" write of roadbuilding and food production on those southern battlefields.

You can still buy books about the spectacular victory in 1975 that collapsed the Saigon government and its army and ended the war. One such is a paperback, "Vuan Loc — Saigon," written by several veterans of the final battles.

But in half a dozen bookstores it was apparent that war books have given way to voluminous accounts of nation building and economic recovery, the two main preoccupations of the Hanoi government.

Gone along with the war books are the obvious symbols of the war days. Workers have filled in the manholes around the lakes and along the main street that served as instant air raid shelter for the population during the American air raids.

Gone is the giant scoreboard two stories tall in downtown Hanoi that told the people about the war's progress with large red victory splashes painted across a map of South Vietnam.

War souvenirs are also in short supply.

Aides to the U.S. delegation seeking information about American war dead and those missing in action discovered in the bar of the Thong Nhut Hotel a showcase of local products. Among them were metal combs made from the wreckage of American warplanes, once a popular souvenir.

Col. William M. Hubbell, who used to fly against targets around Hanoi and is now deputy commander of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center in Thailand, bought one for a dollar.

"What the hell, the war's over now," he said.

"Well, I guess we are starting to take it all back home," said Roger Shields of the Defense Department as several other Americans bought the combs.

GOP Showing Signs Of Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Grand Old Party, a distinct minority, aided by the slow early pace of the majority in the 112th General Assembly, is beginning to show signs of life at the Statehouse.

Senate Republicans, a band of 12 in the 33-member upper chamber, have hired two new staff aides in an effort to shape a positive, constructive image. "You can't just be negative every time they (Democrats) do something," one Republican said. "It turns people off."

Al Porkolab, a longtime aide to former U.S. Rep. Charles A. Mosher, will oversee press relations and help develop policy.

James R. Tilling, who left his post as professor of political science at Ohio University, will research issues, assist in speech-writing, and work with all members on press relations.

Meanwhile, a new member of the minority leadership team, Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R19 Ashland, has emerged as an activist in the caucus. Van Meter, 33, has a flair for publicity and isn't afraid to take on the Democratic heavyweight. More importantly he is also a hard behind-the-scenes worker who already is thinking about the 1978 legislative elections.

In the House, Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, after surviving some post-election bitterness among some members of his caucus, has made the Republican position more visible.

GOP representatives, who introduce "policy bills" as alternatives to major Democratic proposals, detail their plans in carefully written press releases that indicate they have backing from the 37-member Republican caucus.

Kurfess has also assembled an attractive group of mostly female administrative aides and interns that some Statehousematchers have dubbed "Charlie's Angels."

Parallel to all of this, the veteran Toledo-area attorney is encouraging speculation that he will run for governor in 1978. Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney of Cincinnati has also let it be known that he is considering a bid.

With 1984, just a few elections away, Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, author of the state's privacy law, is ever-cognizant of creeping big brotherism—the myriad of personal records compiled by state and local government agencies.

"Right in this building, we are doing it," he told members of the Ohio Information Control Board, meeting earlier this week in the 41-story State Office Tower.

"We don't do it consciously," he said, but "the effect of these record systems that we have here is a dossier on every Ohioan."

Reverse Convictions In Lucasville Cases

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Five of 14 inmates found guilty of attempting to escape from the Lucasville penitentiary three years ago have had their convictions reversed.

The 4th District Court of Appeals ordered additional hearings for three others and upheld the convictions of the remaining six men.

All the inmates were found guilty of trying to break out of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility during a strike by guards May 18, 1974.

The court reversed the convictions of Johnny C. Proctor, 25; Donald Tucker, 22; William Harrell, 23; George Castle, 27; and Adrian Hanni, 23.

The court held in the cases of Castle and Hanni that the prosecution's use in final arguments of the fact they had remained silent during pretrial interrogation was improper.

In the cases of Proctor, Harrell and Tucker, the court held it was an error for the trial judges not to instruct the jury on the defense of duress.

The three claimed the reason they escaped was because conditions inside the penitentiary made them fearful. The court upheld the convictions of Robert Allen Stewart, 26; John Ray Stutts, 29; Thomas Kinik, 41; Lee

Atterbury, 29; James Valentine, 27, and Robert Scheib, 31.

Additional hearings were ordered for William Carter, 29; Samuel Bernard Jr., 34, and Roger Lowe, 26, to determine if it was necessary for them to have been shackled while in the courtroom.

The trial judge ruled that the necessity for keeping them in chains during the trial was a matter for the sheriff to determine. The appellate court held this was the jurisdiction of the judge conducting the trial.

Judge Earl Stephenson wrote the opinions, issued Wednesday, in which Judge Homer E. Abele concurred. Judge Gordon Gray, who heard arguments in the cases is now retired from the court.

In upholding the six convictions, the court overruled claims that the accused inmates should have been granted a change of venue and that they were placed in double jeopardy by their trials.

Rocky Plans Portrait

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, who was governor of New York longer than all but one other New York chief executive, plans to put up the second-largest official portrait.

Rockefeller aides said Thursday that the former governor's official portrait will arrive at the capitol next week to be hung in the marble "hall of governors." Twenty-nine other portraits are hung in the hall.

The painting and frame — measuring 80-by-70 inches — is second in size to the picture of Gov. George Clinton, which hangs in the Capitol's Red Room, the ceremonial office of the governor.

Clinton, the state's first governor, served 18 years. Rockefeller's tenure was 15 years.

Fishes Provide Good Fertilizer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources says fish killed as a result of severe winter weather can provide excellent fertilizer for home gardens and flower beds.

Wildlife Division chief Dale Haney said persons living near lakes and ponds should not be alarmed if dead fish appear along the shorelines.

"In many cases, the number of fish seen represents a small percentage of the total fish population of a lake," Haney said. "Dead fish will decompose rapidly and return fertility to the water, in addition to providing food for raccoons, crayfish, turtles and birds."

Records Decision Helps Junk Mailers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who like a little junk mail to pad those bills that pour through the mail slot should be happy with a Supreme Court ruling Wednesday that will make it easier for firms to get state mailing lists.

The court issued a writ of mandamus, a move that forced the state Board of Cosmetology to open its records to Milo's Beauty Supply Company of Stow.

The company had asked permission to inspect and copy, at its own expense, the board's list of licensed beauticians and beauty salons and their addresses.

The board denied access to the records April 7, 1975 on advice from Richard Krabach, former director of the Department of Administrative Services.

His advice applied not only to the Board of Cosmetology but also to all state agencies.

Arthur Tisdale, counsel for Administrative Services, said Thursday that that ruling was being reconsidered in light of the Supreme Court order.

He said that he felt the original advice was issued to prevent the "discriminatory" release of state mailing lists and invasion of the privacy of individuals who were on such lists under the assumption the lists would not become public.

"The key to the entire case," Tisdale said, "is the language 'any record that a state agency is required to keep.'"

In ordering the Board of Cosmetology to release its list to Milo's, the high court said that the list passed the test for public records.

"...the records must be kept by a governmental unit, and (2) the records must be specifically required to be kept by law," the court said in its unanimous decision.

The Department of Administrative Services was joined in its earlier order against distributing state mailing lists by former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

He stopped the state practice of selling mailing lists during a public outcry against the activity by a public tired of junk mail.

Delays Slow Leach Trial

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ashby Leach has won an early skirmish in his kidnaping trial, but delays continue to slow the pace of proceedings after four days of legal wrangling.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Eugene J. Sawicki agreed Thursday to allow Leach to represent himself, reversing earlier courtroom denials of the request.

But Sawicki recessed court early to consider orders from an appeals court that he modify a gag order issued at the trial's outset.

Leach, 30, of Huntington, W.Va., is accused of 13 counts of kidnaping, and one each of extortion, assault and carrying criminal tools in the Aug. 26 takeover of the Chessie Systems Railroad offices in Cleveland.

"I'm part of it now," Leach said after Sawicki announced he could defend himself. The judge also reinstated R. Raymond Twohig and Roger Hurley as cocounselors for the defense at Leach's request.

Dr. Franklin Inaugurated As Public Instruction Head

COLUMBUS — Dr. Franklin B. Walter was inaugurated Thursday as Ohio's 31st Superintendent of Public Instruction as he set forth seven key educational issues and priorities which require immediate attention.

Chief Justice C. William O'Neill administered the oath of office to Dr. Walter before State Department of Education officials, Friends and his wife.

Ohio schools were called upon by Dr. Walter to place renewed emphasis on basic skills. "Mastery of the fundamentals," Dr. Walter said, "has never been more important. With full knowledge that individuals vary greatly, assuring each Ohio youngster an opportunity to achieve full potential is essential."

"A major study of the school foundation program," Dr. Walter announced, "will be the first step toward resolving financial crises in school districts." The federally funded study will focus on evaluating the equity of the equal yield formula.

To augment the great strides which have been made in the redesign of teacher education, Dr. Walter called for "immediate improvement in the preparation of school administrators and expansion of the current inservice education for Ohio's 120,000 teachers and administrators."

The courts," Dr. Walter observed, "have become a fundamental force in shaping or reshaping American education. Resolving the issues that are in litigation relating to racial isolation, school finance, vocational education and the education of the handicapped is a major priority."

"The success of the Department of Education," Dr. Walter said in closing, "is dependent upon a personal commitment for excellence by each member of the staff. Let us work together."

Dr. Walter's wife, Jane Weber Walter, is an elementary teacher in the Columbus Public School system. They have two adult sons.

Records Decision Helps Junk Mailers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who like a little junk mail to pad those bills that pour through the mail slot should be happy with a Supreme Court ruling Wednesday that will make it easier for firms to get state mailing lists.

The court issued a writ of mandamus, a move that forced the state Board of Cosmetology to open its records to Milo's Beauty Supply Company of Stow.

The company had asked permission to inspect and copy, at its own expense, the board's list of licensed beauticians and beauty salons and their addresses.

The board denied access to the records April 7, 1975 on advice from Richard Krabach, former director of the Department of Administrative Services.

His advice applied not only to the Board of Cosmetology but also to all state agencies.

Arthur Tisdale, counsel for Administrative Services, said Thursday that that ruling was being reconsidered in light of the Supreme Court order.

He said that he felt the original advice was issued to prevent the "discriminatory" release of state mailing lists and invasion of the privacy of individuals who were on such lists under the assumption the lists would not become public.

"The key to the entire case," Tisdale said, "is the language 'any record that a state agency is required to keep.'"

In ordering the Board of Cosmetology to release its list to Milo's, the high court said that the list passed the test for public records.

"...the records must be kept by a governmental unit, and (2) the records must be specifically required to be kept by law," the court said in its unanimous decision.

The Department of Administrative Services was joined in its earlier order against distributing state mailing lists by former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

He stopped the state practice of selling mailing lists during a public outcry against the activity by a public tired of junk mail.

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

As this is written Friday morning, "Willie the Dillie" and his wife Jerry should be in the middle of the Bluegrass state, on their way to New Orleans for a week of general relaxation in the French quarter with Pete Fountain and Al Hirt.

We know though, that if we failed to mention what took place in the county this morning, we would have to hide when he returns.

The members of the Westfall High School girls' basketball team, along with Coach Linda Diltz, presented a "good luck" banner to Coach Angie Rinehart's Teays Valley Vikings, as they prepare for their Central District Class AA finals game against River Valley. This is typical of the athletes in Pickaway County though, who still know about good sportsmanship.

Many people may not know of the splendid record the Vikings have compiled. They have participated in Metro League competition for four years, and they have taken the league crown for three of those years. This is the second year the girls' state tournament has been in existence, and this also marks the second year the Vikings have gained a berth in district competition.

The winner of Saturday's 3 p.m. match-up will play the winner of the Bishop Hartley vs. Bishop Werle game in regional competition.

The members of the Vikings are Deb Baxter, Patricia Stiles, Suzanne Jones, Nancy Kraft, Michelle Marion, Perri Martin, Erika Stewart, Carla Reichelderfer, Rita Slone, Florie Mesner, and Patty Maciejewski.

Congratulations to the Vikings, and a big congratulations to the Mustangs for a championship show of sportsmanship.

"Fearless Forecast" — Look for Michigan over UNC-Charlotte; "Kain-tuckee's" wildcats will finish the Tar Heels; and Wittenberg will move past Scranton into the Division III finals. And of course we look for the Vikings to gain a berth in the regionals.

Until next time, have a nice day, be a good sport.

St. Patrick Handicap Highlights Beulah Park Opening Day

GROVE CITY — Undeclared Commissioner Gabe, 1976 Ohio horse of the year, has been assigned high weight of 127 pounds for the St. Patrick Handicap, premier stakes event which highlights Beulah Park's opening day program Saturday.

The Dayton, Ohio owned gelding, behind an enviable string of five straight victories, was the obvious choice by new racing secretary Vince Mara for high weight among the field of 13 nominations.

The list of other nominees and assigned weights include Bionic Strength (116), That (115), Pilgrim Fire (113), Nie Guy Jack (112), Hoise Sail Jr. (110), Sir Wanatah (109), May Trick (108), Frost Bite (107), Eastern Tiger (105), Easy Reaper (105), Sheer Action (102) and Father All (100).

The $20,000-added St. Patrick Handicap, tailored exclusively for three-year-olds, initiates a 32-day spring racing meeting.

The tempo of this weekend's opening racing schedule will be stepped up by an outstanding Sunday program, only one of the meeting, which will be focused on the Dispatch Charities Day card.

The Beulah Park riders will have an extra incentive for winning this year.

Bob Houser, track general manager, announced that any jockey winning three races a day during the meeting will be awarded a $25 United States Saving Bond.

Jockey room custodian, Turley Lamberson, reports that approximately 40 riders will ply their trade at this meeting. Some of the top names to unload their tack Monday included Sam Siciliano, Tony Costa, Edgar Costello, John Rodriguez, John Schaffer.

Tommy Meyers, one of Ohio's perennial leaders in the jockey standings, also has informed Lamberson of his intention to ride out the 32 day meeting.

Meyers, who Sunday won both ends of $15,000-added Rubber City Handicap at Thistledown, will be astride Commissioner Gabe when he goes to the post in the St. Patrick Handicap.

Post time weekdays, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, is 2 p.m. Post time Saturday and this weekend's lone Sunday program is 1:30 p.m. The track is dark on Tuesdays.

The Beulah Park wagering menu includes the daily double, three quinellas and a perfecta.

Robin Martin On Wittenberg Track Team

SPRINGFIELD — Robin Martin, a Wittenberg University junior from Circleville, is a prominent member of Wittenberg's indoor track team this winter.

Martin has been competing successfully in the mile relay for the Tigers this season. He is expected to play a vital role in the team's efforts to prepare for the outdoor track season in the spring.

Martin is coached by Ron Murphy, who is beginning his tenth season as the Tigers' head track mentor. A graduate of Wittenberg, Murphy has compiled a 43-14-4 record during his nine previous years at the helm.

Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Martin of 428 Glenmont Court.

Idaho State Upsets UCLA, 76-75

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"This has got to be the greatest win ever," said Idaho State Coach Jim Killingsworth. "We never even played a No. 2 team before."

The Bengals got their chance Thursday night and made the most of it, beating second-ranked UCLA 76-75 in a stunning upset and advancing to the regional finals of the NCAA college basketball tournament.

Seven-foot center Steve Hayes scored 27 points and Ernie Wheeler hit four free throws — his only points of the game — in the final 37 seconds, giving Big Sky champion Idaho State perhaps its greatest basketball victory ever. The Bengals sank 18 of 21 free throw attempts in the second half.

In other action as the field dwindled to eight, top-ranked Michigan beat No. 12 Detroit 86-81. No. 3 Kentucky dropped No. 20 VMI 93-78. No. 4 Nevada-Las Vegas downed No. 14 Utah 88-83. No. 5 North Carolina shaded No. 10 Notre Dame 79-77. No. 17 North Carolina-Charlotte shocked No. 6 Syracuse 81-59. No. 7 Marquette edged No. 16 Kansas State 67-66, and No. 9 Wake Forest eliminated Southern Illinois 86-81.

That left six of the nation's top 10 teams still alive, three North Carolina schools among the final eight and both UNC-Charlotte and Idaho State as this year's Cinderella teams.

The pairings for Saturday's regional finals:

—EAST: Kentucky, 26-3, vs. North Carolina, 26-4, at College Park, Md.

—WEST: Nevada-Las Vegas, 27-2, vs. Idaho State, 25-4, at Provo, Utah.

—MIDWEST: Michigan, 26-3, vs. North Carolina-Charlotte, 27-3, at Lexington, Ky.

—SOUTHWEST: Marquette, 22-7, vs. Wake Forest, 22-7, at Oklahoma City.

The four winners advance to the national semifinals March 26 at Atlanta. The final will be March 28.

Idaho State built a 71-63 lead with 2:08 remaining before UCLA, 22-7, stormed back. Wheeler's first two free throws put the Bengals ahead by five points with 37 seconds left, but the Bruins quickly closed within one point with nine seconds left. Then Wheeler hit two more foul shots, assuring Idaho State of the victory.

"It's history, we lost," said UCLA Coach Gene Bartow. "One good team just beat another good team tonight. There's no room for error when you get down to the final 16."

Marques Johnson scored 21 points and David Greenwood 20 for the Bruins.

Robert Smith scored 21 points and converted four free throws in the final minutes, leading Nevada-Las Vegas past Utah, 22-7. Smith, who scored 13 points in the second half, was one of five Rebels in double figures. Jeff Judkins paced Utah with 23 points.

In the East, All-American guard Phil Ford sank two free throws with just two seconds left, lifting the Tar Heels past No. 10 Notre Dame. The Irish led by 14 points early in the second half, but a rash of turnovers enabled North Carolina to rally. Ford injured his elbow with 1:16 to play but stayed in the game.

Ford got eight of his team's last 10 points, including the decisive free throws, and finished with 29 points. Toby Knight scored 22 points for Notre Dame, 22-7.

The Kentucky-VMI game was far less complicated. The Wildcats broke it open midway through the second half with a 14-3 streak and VMI, despite 28 points by Ron Carter, never got even. Sophomore Truman Claytor, averaging 5.8 points per game, came off the bench and poured in 29 — hitting 13 of 15 shots from the floor — and Jack Givens added 26 for the Wildcats.

In the Midwest, Michigan pulled away from stubborn Detroit with seven straight points and went ahead 75-68 with about eight minutes left. The Titans got within three with 3:35 left, but John Robinson hit two layups and the Wolverines were in. Robinson finished with 25 points and Phil Hubbard had 22 for the winners, while John Long netted 25 for Detroit, 25-3.

"They are a basketball team that knows how to win," said Detroit Coach Dick Vitale, predicting that Michigan would win the tournament.

UNC-Charlotte wasted little time in taking command against Syracuse, 26-4. The 49ers raced to a 32-14 lead with about five minutes to play in the first half and the Orangemen, last of the seven Eastern schools in the tourney, never recovered. Cedric Maxwell led UNC-Charlotte with 19 points.

In the Midwest, Marquette trailed most of the way before Butch Lee sank a jump shot, putting the Warriors ahead for good 60-58. Lee hit a layup in the final minute that stood up as the winning basket. Lee finished with 26 points for Marquette while Larry Dassie led Kansas State, 23-8, with 18. Skip Brown scored 25 points and Rod Griffin and Jerry Schellenberg had 22 each in Wake Forest's victory over Southern Illinois, 22-6. The Deacons had a one-point lead with 3:15 left and went into a stall. The Salukis were forced to start fouling and Brown sank seven free throws down the stretch, clinching it for Wake Forest.

Mike Glenn netted 30 points for the losers.

Bonnies Roll Over Villanova, 86-82

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Satalin had "Gardenitis" — that nervous affliction that has fogged the minds of many basketball coaches at Madison Square Garden.

"I almost blew it because I wasn't smart," said the St. Bonaventure coach.

Luckily, he had some clever players to make up for his coaching mistakes Thursday night, and the Bonnies moved into Sunday's final of the National Invitation Tournament with an 86-82 victory over Villanova. They will meet Houston, an 82-76 winner over Alabama in Thursday's night's other semifinal game.

Satalin particularly faulted himself for the foul trouble of his two leading scorers, Essie Hollis and Greg Sanders. They each collected a third foul before the first half and had to sit out some crucial moments before and after intermission.

"I wasn't smart enough to take them out earlier," Satalin said. "I should have sat them down when they got their second fouls. If we had lost the game, I would have blamed myself." Glenn Hagan came to Satalin's rescue. Usually the Bonnies' playmaker, he turned into their top scorer with 26 points, including 22 in the second half.

"For some reason, he just plays well against Villanova," said Satalin, whose team beat the Wildcats earlier in the season. "Certain guys always do well against a certain club — and he just kills the Wildcats." When Hollis and Sanders did get back into the game, the Bonnies went

St. Patrick Handicap Highlights Beulah Park Opening Day

GROVE CITY — Undeclared Commissioner Gabe, 1976 Ohio horse of the year, has been assigned high weight of 127 pounds for the St. Patrick Handicap, premier stakes event which highlights Beulah Park's opening day program Saturday.

The Dayton, Ohio owned gelding, behind an enviable string of five straight victories, was the obvious choice by new racing secretary Vince Mara for high weight among the field of 13 nominations.

The list of other nominees and assigned weights include Bionic Strength (116), That (115), Pilgrim Fire (113), Nie Guy Jack (112), Hoise Sail Jr. (110), Sir Wanatah (109), May Trick (108), Frost Bite (107), Eastern Tiger (106), Easy Reaper (105), Sheer Action (102) and Father All (100).

The $20,000-added St. Patrick Handicap, tailored exclusively for three-year-olds, initiates a 32-day spring racing meeting.

The tempo of this weekend's opening racing schedule will be stepped up by an outstanding Sunday program, only one of the meeting, which will be focused on the Dispatch Charities Day card.

The Beulah Park riders will have an extra incentive for winning this year. Bob Houser, track general manager, announced that any jockey winning three races a day during the meeting will be awarded a $25 United States Saving Bond.

Jockey room custodian, Turley Lamberson, reports that approximately 40 riders will play their trade at this meeting. Some of the top names to unload their tack Monday included Sam Siciliano, Tony Costa, Edgar Costello, John Rodriguez, John Schaffer. Tommy Meyers, one of Ohio's perennial leaders in the jockey standings, also has informed Lamberson of his intention to ride out the 32 day meeting.

Meyers, who Sunday won both ends of $15,000-added Rubber City Handicap at Thistledown, will be astride Commissioner Gabe when he goes to the post in the St. Patrick Handicap.

Post time weekdays, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, is 2 p.m. Post time Saturday and this weekend's lone Sunday program is 1:30 p.m. The track is dark on Tuesdays.

The Beulah Park wagering menu includes the daily double, three quinellas and a perfecta.

Robin Martin On Wittenberg Track Team

SPRINGFIELD — Robin Martin, a Wittenberg University junior from Circleville, is a prominent member of Wittenberg's indoor track team this winter.

Martin has been competing successfully in the mile relay for the Tigers this season. He is expected to play a vital role in the team's efforts to prepare for the outdoor track season in the spring.

Martin is coached by Ron Murphy, who is beginning his tenth season as the Tigers' head track mentor. A graduate of Wittenberg, Murphy has compiled a 43-14-4 record during his nine previous years at the helm.

Martin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Martin of 428 Glenmont Court.

Idaho State Upsets UCLA, 76-75

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

"This has got to be the greatest win ever," said Idaho State Coach Jim Killingsworth. "We never even played a No. 2 team before."

The Bengals got their chance Thursday night and made the most of it, beating second-ranked UCLA 76-75 in a stunning upset and advancing to the regional finals of the NCAA college basketball tournament.

Seven-foot center Steve Hayes scored 27 points and Ernie Wheeler hit four free throws — his only points of the game — in the final 37 seconds, giving Big Sky champion Idaho State perhaps its greatest basketball victory ever. The Bengals sank 18 of 21 free throw attempts in the second half.

In other action as the field dwindled to eight, top-ranked Michigan beat No. 12 Detroit 86-81, No. 3 Kentucky dropped No. 20 VMI 93-78, No. 4 Nevada-Las Vegas downed No. 14 Utah 88-83, No. 5 North Carolina shaded No. 10 Notre Dame 79-77, No. 17 North Carolina-Charlotte shocked No. 6 Syracuse 81-59, No. 7 Marquette edged No. 16 Kansas State 67-66, and No. 9 Wake Forest eliminated Southern Illinois 86-81.

That left six of the nation's top 10 teams still alive, three North Carolina schools among the final eight and both UNC-Charlotte and Idaho State as this year's Cinderella teams.

The pairings for Saturday's regional finals:

—EAST: Kentucky, 26-3, vs North Carolina, 26-4, at College Park, Md.

—WEST: Nevada-Las Vegas, 27-2, vs. Idaho State, 25-4, at Provo, Utah.

—MIDEAST: Michigan, 26-3, vs. North Carolina-Charlotte, 27-3, at Lexington, Ky.

—MIDWEST: Marquette, 22-7, vs. Wake Forest, 22-7, at Oklahoma City.

The four winners advance to the national semifinals March 26 at Atlanta. The final will be March 28.

Idaho State built a 71-63 lead with 2:08 remaining before UCLA, 22-7, stormed back. Wheeler's first two free throws put the Bengals ahead by five points with 37 seconds left, but the Bruins quickly closed within one point with nine seconds left. Then Wheeler hit two more foul shots, assuring Idaho State of the victory.

"It's history, we lost," said UCLA Coach Gene Bartow. "One good team just beat another good team tonight. There's no room for error when you get down to the final 16."

Marques Johnson scored 21 points and David Greenwood 20 for the Bruins.

Robert Smith scored 21 points and converted four free throws in the final minutes, leading Nevada-Las Vegas past Utah, 22-7. Smith, who scored 13 points in the second half, was one of five Rebels in double figures. Jeff Judkins paced Utah with 23 points.

In the East, All-American guard Phil Ford sank two free throws with just two seconds left, lifting the Tar Heels past No. 10 Notre Dame. The Irish led by 14 points early in the second half, but a rash of turnovers enabled North Carolina to rally. Ford injured his elbow with 1:16 to play but stayed in the game.

Ford got eight of his team's last 10 points, including the decisive free throws, and finished with 29 points. Toby Knight scored 22 points for Notre Dame, 22-7.

The Kentucky-VMI game was far less complicated. The Wildcats broke it open midway through the second half with a 14-3 streak and VMI, despite 28 points by Ron Carter, never got even. Sophomore Truman Claytor, averaging 5.8 points per game, came off the bench and poured in 29 — hitting 13 of 15 shots from the floor — and Jack Givens added 26 for the Wildcats.

In the Mideast, Michigan pulled away from stubborn Detroit with seven straight points and went ahead 75-68 with about eight minutes left. The Titans got within three with 3:35 left, but John Robinson hit two layups and the Wolverines were in. Robinson finished with 25 points and Phil Hubbard had 22 for the winners, while John Long netted 25 for Detroit, 25-3.

"They are a basketball team that knows how to win," said Detroit Coach Dick Vitale, predicting that Michigan would win the tournament.

UNC-Charlotte wasted little time in taking command against Syracuse, 26-4. The 49ers raced to a 32-14 lead with about five minutes to play in the first half and the Orangemen, last of the seven Eastern schools in the tourney, never recovered. Cedric Maxwell led UNC-Charlotte with 19 points.

In the Midwest, Marquette trailed most of the way before Butch Lee sank

a jump shot, putting the Warriors ahead for good 60-58. Lee hit a layup in the final minute that stood up as the winning basket. Lee finished with 26 points for Marquette while Larry Dassie led Kansas State, 23-8, with 18. Skip Brown scored 25 points and Rod Griffin and Jerry Schellenberg had 22 each in Wake Forest's victory over Southern Illinois, 22-6. The Deacons had a one-point lead with 3:15 left and went into a stall. The Salukis were forced to start fouling and Brown sank seven free throws down the stretch, clinching it for Wake Forest.

Mike Glenn netted 30 points for the losers.

Bonnies Roll Over Villanova, 86-82

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Satalin had "Gardenitis" — that nervous affliction that has fogged the minds of many basketball coaches at Madison Square Garden.

"I almost blew it because I wasn't smart," said the St. Bonaventure coach.

Luckily, he had some clever players to make up for his coaching mistakes Thursday night, and the Bonnies moved into Sunday's final of the National Invitation Tournament with an 86-82 victory over Villanova. They will meet Houston, an 82-76 winner over Alabama in Thursday's night's other semifinal game.

Satalin particularly faulted himself for the foul trouble of his two leading scorers, Essie Hollis and Greg Sanders. They each collected a third foul before the first half and had to sit out some crucial moments before and after intermission.

"I wasn't smart enough to take them out earlier," Satalin said. "I should have sat them down when they got their second fouls. If we had lost the game, I would have blamed myself."

Glenn Hagan came to Satalin's rescue. Usually the Bonnies' playmaker, he turned into their top scorer with 26 points, including 22 in the second half.

"For some reason, he just plays well against Villanova," said Satalin, whose team beat the Wildcats earlier in the season. "Certain guys always do well against a certain club — and he just kills the Wildcats."

When Hollis and Sanders did get back into the game, the Bonnies went

St. Ignatius Ready To Face Barborton

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The way Cleveland St. Ignatius basketball Coach Marty Chambers sees it, the outcome of his team's high school Class AAA regional championship showdown with Barborton Saturday will depend on "who gets the ball up the floor."

"If we get it up the floor, we'll have a chance," Chambers observed after St. Ignatius upset fifth-ranked Warren Western Reserve 91-74 Thursday night to win a berth against unbeaten and defending AAA titlist Barborton.

In other tournament action, Dayton Jefferson and Columbus Bexley notched Dayton Class AA regional semifinal victories, while fourth-ranked Richmond Dale Southeastern, former champion Strasburg and Continental stayed alive in Class A.

Rebounding was a key factor in St. Ignatius' triumph in the Canton AAA regional Thursday night.

"St. Ignatius did a better job on the boards," Western Reserve Coach John Lawhorn conceded. "We didn't get those second shots."

The Cleveland school trailed by five points after the first quarter, but took the lead in the second period and broke the game open in the third quarter by scoring 15 straight. Senior forward Marty Wise paced the victors with 36 points.

Western Reserve, whose only previous loss in 22 games was to Barborton, was paced by Mark Reed with 23 points.

Cedric Hayden scored six of his 20 points in the fourth quarter and Joe Watkins popped in six points in the period as Jefferson (16-7) caught fire to defeat Springfield Shawnee 55-50.

Bexley (19-3) was led by Larry Wilson as it sidetracked North College Hill 86-78, despite a 34-point performance by the losers' Dwayne Crutchfield.

The two winners will meet Saturday afternoon in the Dayton Arena for the regional championship.

Southeastern (2-1) got 25 points from Coy Prater as it ousted Lucasville Valley 71-64 to win a finals berth Saturday against Strasburg in the Ohio University Class A regional.

Strasburg (17-6) advanced by defeating Shadyside 87-72 as hot-handed Jeff Numbers poured in 42 points.

Four free throws by Kevin Homier in an overtime period helped Continental salvage a 73-68 verdict over Archbold in the Class A regional semifinals at Bowling Green. Continental (19-6) will battle New Bremen (21-2) Saturday for a spot in the state tournament.

Nolan Ryan of the California Angels pitched his fourth no-hitter on June 1, 1975.

Angel Cordero led New York jockeys in stakes winners in 1976 with 23.

John Denny turned in a 2.52 earned run average per nine innings with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1976 to pace National League pitchers.

CHS Thinclads Open Season At Newark

Circleville High School's track team officially opened its season Thursday finishing seventh in the 9-team Newark Indoor Invitational. Upper Arlington won the event with 36 points.

Dave Phillips won both the 50-yard high and low hurdles with times of 6.4 and 6.2 seconds respectively in the events.

David Uland was second in the two mile run with a time of 10:37.0 and Greg Berrigan was fifth in the 440-yard dash in 57.2.

Circleville's mile relay team of Berrigan, Wayne Rhoades, Tim Milstead and Phillips was fifth in 3:54.0.

Second place in the meet went to host school Newark with 34 points. Ashland scored 33½, Lancaster 33, Gahana 32½, Brookhaven 22, Circleville 18, Grove City nine and Groveport six.

Circleville was the only class AA school in the meet. The others were all class AAA schools.

Monday the Tiger thinclads will compete in the Central District Indoor Meet at French Field House, Ohio State University and on March 29 they open the outdoor season hosting Washington C.H. and Hamilton.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Rockets have won nine games in a row, something no other National Basketball Association team has done this season. They have collected a team record 42 victories, lost just four of their last 19 games, and do not seem interested in having their fortunes change.

"The way we're playing now is no fluke," said the Rockets' Calvin Murphy. "We've worked hard, we have direction, and we know where we're going."

They are headed for the NBA playoffs, since Thursday night's 88-87 triumph over the Cleveland Cavaliers gave Houston a three-game lead over the San Antonio Spurs in the Central Division.

In other NBA games Thursday night, the Kansas City Kings downed the Buffalo Braves 125-104, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Boston Celtics 100-91, the New York Knicks downed the Denver Nuggets 115-107, and the Portland Trail Blazers topped the Golden State Warriors 115-106.

Adena Girls Win District

The Adena girls' basketball team flattened East Portsmouth 64-22 in district play at Chillicothe Thursday evening, to gain a spot in the Dayton regional.

Cindy Noble led the Warriors with 24 points, and Ruth Adner contributed 22 to the winning cause. The Warriors, coached by Marvin Seyfang, have rolled up 63 straight victories, including a 19-0 record for this season.

Pickaway Ross Student Enrolled In Cosmetology

By BECKY WOLFORD

One of Circleville High School's students attending the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational Center is Shirley Lemaster. She is enrolled in Senior Cosmetology.

Shirley is 18 years old, and she resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Lemaster, at 23530 Canal Road. Her hobbies include reading and little Carey Sue.

Shirley feels that by attending vocational school she is learning a trade that she can use in the future.

After graduating, Shirley plans to work as a cosmetologist or go on to school to become a color technician. "I really enjoy my program, mainly because I get to work with the public," comments Shirley.

In her program, Shirley learns to work with hair and also with people. Shirley is also enrolled in Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, (VICA), which is an organization affiliated with her program.

Softball Team Has New Coach

By SALLY SCHLEGELER

Girl's softball at CHS will have a new coach this season, Miss Mary Burke, physical education teacher at the junior high.

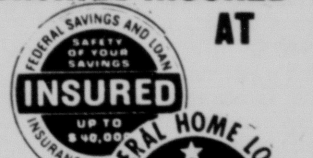

Interest was high as 23 girls are competing for spots on the 15-member squad.

Coach Burke sees the team as promising and is counting on a strong infield. Her goal is to create a defensively strong team and win as many games as possible.

"We'll do the very best we can. That's all I can ask from them — their best," concluded Miss Burke.

Teacher Uses Guitar As Learning Device

RICHARD BILLMAN

By DEBI GENTZEL

"I enjoy talking and sharing with my students, and I try to help them face and cope with the problems which they are often confronted with due to today's pressures," explained Richard Billman.

Billman teaches psychology, sociology, and world geography.

He attended Ashland College for two years then obtained his bachelor of arts degree with Whittier College in California. He returned to Ashland, where he continued his teaching education and there began student teaching. While attending Ashland College, he also taught social studies classes at the Ohio Youth Commission for juvenile boys.

Before coming to CHS in 1973, Billman took graduate courses in Indiana. At CHS Billman has obtained a close relationship between himself and his students due to his openness in class.

His teaching techniques in class include the role plan, in which he demonstrates different situations; positive reinforcement; and trying to engage students in conversation.

The student gets involved in the class by student teaching, in which the student investigates a topic for a couple of days and follows guidelines to teach the class. An additional form of this is a "contract," whereby the sociology student selects a topic, investigates it fully on his own for weeks, then reports on it either orally or written.

Billman stated that he likes to interview a different student daily to get to know him as an individual and not just as a member in the class.

Spontaneous class discussions are open for the students to discuss any topic that may come up in class.

Music Groups Featured In Concert

By DAVE ULAND

Tonight the CHS Tiger band and choir will put on a free concert in the high school auditorium. The musicians are enthusiastic about the program, which begins at 8 p.m.

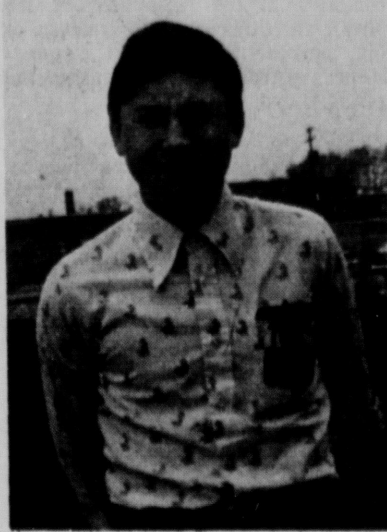

The band has been working since January, under the watchful eye of director F. Allen Howcroft. The program will include works such as "Overture in B Flat"; "Weekend Warriors," featuring Kevin Rogols and Keith Connell; and "Yesterday," Tony Bobbitt will solo in "A Study in Lavender." Bobbitt, Brad Knecht, Mike Perry, Jerry Rush, David Sutton, and Dan Smith will perform "Bugler's Holiday."

Kim Thomas, Frances Rossiter, Julie Kazmierczak, and Angie Allen solo in "Colorama." The selections will range from pop and rock to classical.

The choir will perform numbers from these popular Broadway musicals: "The Music Man," "My Fair Lady," and "The Sound of Music." Among the selections are "Wouldn't It Be Lovely," sung by Melissa Armstrong; "Edelweiss," sung by Randy Wolfe and Paul Dunham; "Do Re Mi," featuring Kathy Fischer, the ensemble, and a group of sixth graders. Selections from "Music Man" highlight Beth Hovermale, Jo Ellen Schlichter, Jerry Isaac, Tim Lockbaum and Kathy Fischer in roles from the play. The choir is under the direction of Miss Deborah Fannin. Randy Wolfe is accompanist.

Band president Marc Rogols comments the concert will be "the greatest concert Circleville has ever seen!" Director Howcroft commented, "I am very proud of the students' efforts and accomplishments."

New Junior Comes From Smaller School

JOHN WOLF

By MONA SHIRES

New to the junior class is John Wolf. He resides at 135 Gale Court with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Yinger, and his two brothers, Tom and Don.

Before coming to CHS, he attended Northridge High School in Johnstown. He likes farming and hopes to pursue farming after graduation.

When asked his opinion of CHS, he said, "I like Northridge better because the school was a lot smaller, but Circleville's all right."

3 CHS Students Qualify As Finalists For Merit Scholarship

By Debbie Butler

Those Semifinalists named in the fall of 1976 who have advanced to Finalist standing in the 1977 Merit Scholarship competition have now been determined by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Linda Fisher, Brent Smith, and David Uland have qualified as finalists by meeting all requirements published in materials sent to them and their principals last September.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fisher. She is involved in NHS, EMS, Curtain Callers, SOS, AFS, and Luther League. Linda plans to attend Miami University and study political science.

Brent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith. He is a full-time student at Ohio University-Lancaster and will graduate at CHS with the Senior Class in May. In September he will start at Ohio State University and continue studying pre-medicine.

Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Uland. He is involved in the Latin Club, NHS, EMS, Latin Honor Society, Red and Black Staff, and the In-the-Know team; he is a High School All-American, an athletic honorary. Dave runs track and cross-country. He plans to study to be a research physicist.

A Certificate of Merit and a letter were given to each. The selection of Merit Scholars is now in progress, and only finalists are eligible to compete for Merit Scholarships.

Eleven students will be traveling to Spain. They are seniors Linda Fisher, Dan Smith, and Susan Stevenson; juniors Beth Hovermale, Tami Hughes, Anna Isaac, Debbie Kellar, Cheryl Spangler, and Sue Strong; and sophomores Melissa Frazier and Brian Sealock. They will be chaperoned by Mrs. Carol Mader, Spanish teacher, and Mrs. Harold Whitfield.

The only requirement to be eligible for the trip to Spain was that the students had to be currently enrolled in Spanish II or that they already had completed the course. To prepare for the trip these students have been reading and doing research on the historical places they will visit. They have also been studying Spanish artists and their influences.

The group will land in Madrid, the capital of Spain, and spend three days sightseeing in the town. They will then spend a day in Toledo and then spend two days in Granada, a big center of Moorish Culture. The eighth day the group will tour the town of Cordoba and then go to Seville.

The remaining two days will be spent sightseeing at the many important spots of Seville. On April 16 the group will bid "adios" to Spain and return to Circleville.

Mrs. Richard Fisher. She is involved in NHS, EMS, Curtain Callers, SOS, AFS, and Luther League. Linda plans to attend Miami University and study political science.

Guidance Guidelines

Cumulative grade averages of 1977 CHS seniors reveal some interesting information. Fifteen per cent of them had "A" averages for grades received during the past 3½ years. In addition, another 36.5 per cent had "B" averages, and 40 per cent had "C" averages. This represents the highest overall grade average in recent years as the median grade average for this class is 2.52 on a 4.0 grading scale. Grade averages for graduates have been steadily getting higher in recent years.

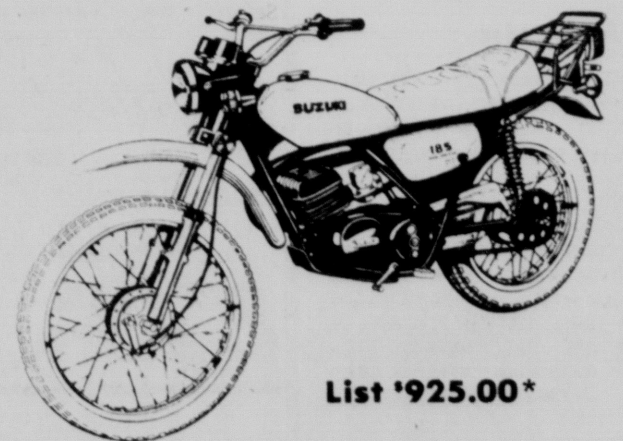

Applications are still available to interested juniors for the Annette G. Will Memorial Award.

The Guidance Department will be meeting with the sophomore classes Tuesday and Thursday next week for scheduling of classes for the 1977-78 school year.

One of Circleville High School's students attending the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational Center is Shirley Lemaster. She is enrolled in Senior Cosmetology.

Shirley is 18 years old, and she resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Lemaster, at 23530 Canal Road. Her hobbies include reading and little Carey Sue.

Shirley feels that by attending vocational school she is learning a trade that she can use in the future.

After graduating, Shirley plans to work as a cosmetologist or go on to school to become a color technician. "I really enjoy my program, mainly because I get to work with the public," comments Shirley.

In her program, Shirley learns to work with hair and also with people. Shirley is also enrolled in Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, (VICA), which is an organization affiliated with her program.

As president, Shannon opens and prepares the meetings. She is also responsible for guest speakers.
In her spare time Shannon enjoys tennis, sewing, and baking. She also works part-time as a dental assistant.
Shannon's future plan is to attend either Mount Union or Bethany College. She resides at 536 N. Court St., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Yunker, and sister, Julia.
Shannon concluded, "I really enjoyed Latin Club because Mrs. Breegle is such an enthusiastic advisor."

Commission Eyes Discrimination

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Civil Rights Commission has begun an investigation into a religious discrimination complaint brought by a witch.
Mrs. Billie Selph of Coshocton, who also is known as Lady Astarte, said she was fired from her job as a bartender recently because she was a witch.
A commission spokesperson said the case has been assigned to an investigator and that efforts will be made to determine whether any commission action is required.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any question concerning the benefits of Veterans Administration should contact the Veterans Service Officer, at 219 S. Court St.

(Q.) I will soon be drawing unemployment compensation. Will this have any effect on my receiving veterans educational allowance?

(A.) Income is not considered in the payment of education allowances. Rates of payment are based generally on hours of attendance or the cost of the course.

(Q.) A veteran's educational assistance may be apportioned in behalf of his dependents. Does this include dependent parents?

(A.) No. Educational assistance may not be apportioned for dependent parents.

(Q.) How is educational entitlement charged for flight training?

(A.) One month of entitlement is charged for each $270 paid to the veteran.

(Q.) I have a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy. It is a term contract and the premium escalates every five years. The cost is becoming prohibitive and I would like to know if there are any options available to me?

(A.) You may convert your term policy to a permanent contract. In addition to a stabilized premium, your policy will accrue a cash value.

(Q.) If a veteran has been receiving VA outpatient care of a service-connected disability, will the report of treatment be sent to the rating board for reevaluation without action by the veteran?

(A.) Only if there has been a significant change in his physical condition in the judgement of the physician. Otherwise, the veteran or his representative must request records of treatment be furnished the rating board.

The Rock, in the Maumee river at Waterville in Lucas County, for generations a play spot for residents of the area, was called Roche de Boeuf by the French nearly 300 years ago, before it had broken away from the shore. —AP

- (Q.) How is educational entitlement charged for flight training?
- (A.) One month of entitlement is charged for each $270 paid to the veteran.
- (Q.) I have a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy. It is a term contract and the premium escalates every five years. The cost is becoming prohibitive and I would like to know if there are any options available to me?

- (A.) You may convert your term policy to a permanent contract. In addition to a stabilized premium, your policy will accrue a cash value.
- (Q.) If a veteran has been receiving VA outpatient care of a service-connected disability, will the report of treatment be sent to the rating board for reevaluation without action by the veteran?
- (A.) Only if there has been a significant change in his physical condition in the judgement of the physician. Otherwise, the veteran or his representative must request records of treatment be furnished the rating board.

The Rock, in the Maumee river at Waterville in Lucas County, for generations a play spot for residents of the area, was called Roche de Boeuf by the French nearly 300 years ago, before it had broken away from the shore. —AP

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Excellent prospects for general interests and your special desires - if they are within the realm of possibility.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus continues favorable. Romance and artistic pursuits stimulated. A good period for reevaluating your long-range projects and putting them on a more solid basis.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Day may not be exciting but, if you look in the right places, you will find more than adequate reason for rejoicing. Get an early start!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A poised, unruffled manner and concise planning, together with a sound investment of time and energies are day's requirements. Scientific matters especially favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Mighty splendid aspects should encourage an enthusiastic you - with your skills sharpened and activities properly directed. A day for action!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Sidestep any activity that could hamper your forward movement. You may encounter unexpected situations; much good, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Plan your schedule so as to allow for handling not only essentials, but some unexpected new activities. Be realistic, too. Do not confuse wishful thinking with "inspiration."

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): An auspicious period. If you cooperate smartly, you can make up for lost time or break through any barriers to new attainment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): Discretion and secrecy may be your most important tools if you are aiming at some unusual financial objective. Let past experience guide you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Avoid a tendency toward lethargy. Rewards will be commensurate with the efforts you expend. Keep your own counsel in personal affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good Uranus influences, but a few "tricky" spots will bear watching. Properly alert, however, you can eradicate them and go on to bigger and better things.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Hunches sometimes warn when not to speak or act but are often ignored. Better pay attention to them, and to the suggestions of the experienced now. Avoid excitability.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely ambitious individual and have been endowed with the talents needed to achieve highly satisfying goals in life. Your personality is an outgoing one and you would make an outstanding speaker, entertainer or politician. This trait is bestowed by the oncoming Aries of which you are a cuspal (one born at or near the change of Signs). You nevertheless possess the typical Piscean love of beauty, art and sensitivity to the needs of others, and could succeed in any one of those areas. You are attracted to "causes" and, should you become active in any one of these, would make a profound and inspiring leader. Just one admonition: Be careful not to go to extremes in such activities.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In 1951, Humphrey Bogart and Katherine Hepburn starred in a nifty movie, "The African Queen," he as a grimy, boozing small-boat maestro, she as a prissy English missionary.

Tonight, CBS airs a redo of the movie, a pilot for a possible series called "The African Queen," with Warren Oates and Mariette Hartley in the famous Bogart-Hepburn roles.

But the only remnants of the original are the title, the beatup boat and the fact the two principals are in German East Africa as World War I breaks out. Everything else is coincidental.

Tonight's opus, written by Irving G. Neiman, starts at the point where Miss Hartley's missionary brother — played in the movie by Robert Morley — has expired, having gone mad after the wicked Germans burned down the village where he did the works of the Lord.

(The brother has no lines in CBS' version; he is already buried when the show starts. This might be an economy move, as the Screen Actors Guild demands no residuals for grave thespians.)

Miss Hartley, as the lady missionary Rosie Sayer, apparently has turned American. At least, a German major derides her "American sympathies" in this war, even though America hasn't joined it yet.

Oates, normally an outstanding actor, seems to wonder where his accents belong in this war. Playing Charlie Allot, he ranges from passable Bogart to Good Ole Boy of Southern legend.

Also in the proceedings are two black chaps not displayed in the 1951 "Queen" — a rascal constable (Clarence Thomas) and Jogana (Johnny Sekka), Oates' grimy aide-de-boat.

Jogana turns out to be the Oxford-educated son of an African tribal leader. You know he's an Oxford man because he keeps calling the scruffy Oates "old boy."

Tonight's plot concerns the Germans' effort to move a 75mm cannon from a port village to Ft. Wilhelm, pardon me, Wilhelm, on the Ulanga River. There, as the major puts it, it will blow the British out of the water "like flying fishes."

The Germans need a boat. Oates runs one. I leave the rest to your imagination, which you'll need, as there is not much in this one-hour caper, filmed in the Florida Everglades.

Fiber Glass Fights Soil Erosion

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Highway Administration is preventing soil erosion along interstate routes with a new strand of fiber glass.

Shot from an air-powered gun, the sprayed fiber glass, called Landglas, provides a low-cost method of protecting seeded areas along highways and in construction sites. Developed by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., it has been applied along roads in 27 states to date.

The sprayed fiber glass strands form a porous mat, protecting the grass seed underneath from salt and water run-off during rain storms or floods. This allows the grass to develop strong roots as it grows up through the mat.

According to the National Automobile Club, a drive across the United States in 1904 required a special permit from the driver's state.

YMCA Explains Programs To Local School Officials

Y BENEFITS EXPLAINED — The Pickaway County YMCA explained the benefits of the proposed new building to be located on Nicholas Drive to representatives of the four school districts. Among those present at the meeting were, from the left: Bob Johnson, a member of both the YMCA and the Circleville Board of Education; Roger Wolfe of Circleville Schools; John Henn, Logan Elm Schools; Robert DeBo, Westfall Schools; Benis Lutz, Teays Valley Schools.

At a special meeting Thursday Pickaway County Family YMCA board members outlined the proposed $850,000 building program to representatives of the four schools in the Pickaway County area, and the services that would be available to students of the schools.

Representatives of the schools were: Roger Wolfe, Circleville; John Henn, superintendent of Logan Elm; Robert DeBo, principal of Westfall High School; Benis Lutz, superintendent of Teays Valley; Dr. Jack Warner, Teays Valley Board member; Robert Johnson, Circleville board member who is also a member of the YMCA board.

Representing the Y at the meeting were Jim Edman, chairman of the board; Bill Lyle and Don Collins, members of the building and fund raising drive committee; Harold Hewitt, executive director.

In reviewing the financial status of the YMCA building program, Bill Lyle reported that $437,000 is pledged to date. He stated the preliminary drawings of the proposed pre-engineered steel structure have been completed and the architect is presently working on the detailed plans, which should be completed by mid or late April.

The building committee hopes to advertise for bids within four weeks of the completion of the detailed plans, to begin construction as soon as possible after the contract is awarded. They are hoping to have the facility completed by October or November.

The building will include a 6-lane indoor swimming pool, standard high school size gymnasium, locker and shower rooms, exercise and weight rooms, offices, lounge and a second floor all purpose room.

Hewitt pointed out that one of the areas the Y could better serve the entire county when the new building is completed is through an aquatic program. The Y hopes to offer a year-around learn to swim program to fourth graders on a scheduled basis which could be incorporated as a part of the physical education program in the schools.

He also said the Y is considering an after-school gym and swim program for students of all the districts. The pool would be made available to the schools for instruction swimming, recreational swimming, competitive swimming, diving, life saving and possibly SCUBA diving lessons.

In addition the Y will be available for elementary, junior high school and senior high school basketball programs, volleyball, after prom parties, YMCA camp-ins and informal education classes geared for the students.

The school representatives indicated they would take advantage of the programs offered by the Y although the schools in the county said that transportation would be a problem.

Hewitt said many of the details of the program including transportation, will have to be worked out.

Y Offers Variety Of Spring Classes

Again this spring, the Pickaway County Family YMCA is offering a colorful variety of classes for all ages. Crafts, painting, fitness, dance and informative classes will be available.

Those interested in the safe and correct way to lose weight will find the Slim Living classes are just the right answer. They are for couples or singles and will be offered Monday evenings 7:30 to 9 p.m. (advanced); or Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. for beginners.

How to Buy or Sell a Home will be held on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Pickaway County Board of Realtors with E. R. Bennett leading the classes.

Adventures in Attitudes, a program dedicated to unlimited human potential, will be given on Wednesday evenings. A fine program, also offered to industry, this course is designed to help you gain courage and self confidence, be able to handle daily problems with ease and assurance, learn to conquer moods of depression, discouragement, doubt and frustration and much more. It was developed by Personal Dynamics, Inc.

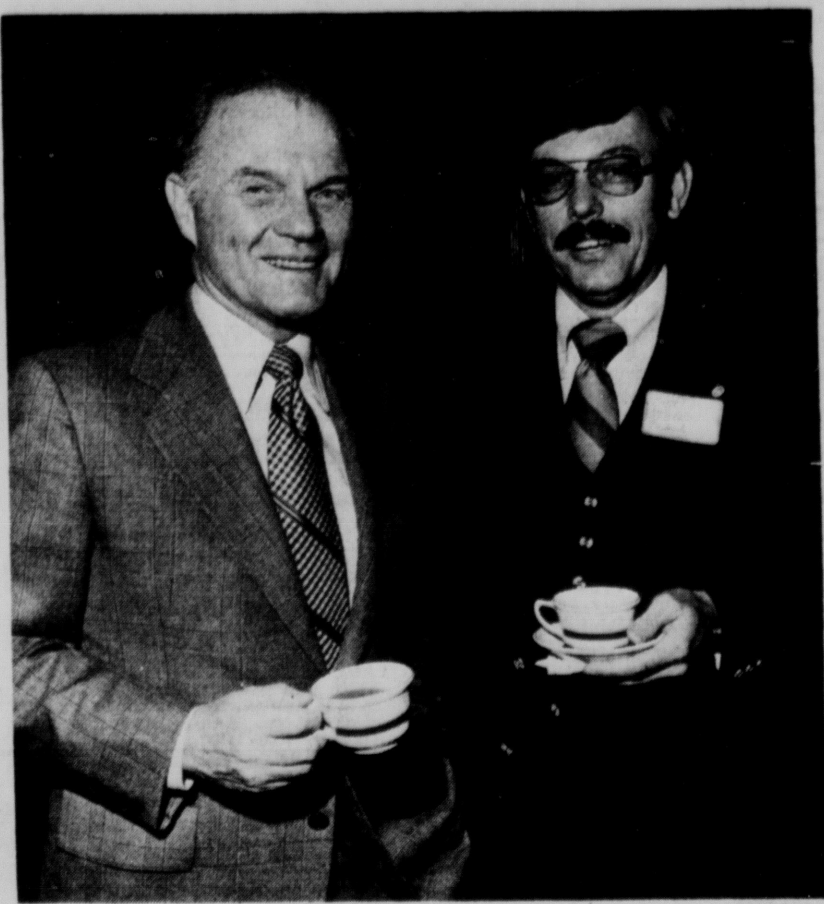

Another course of interest is Fun With Basics of Metrics to be held on Tuesday evenings.

Golf and Tennis instructions will also be held and they will begin the latter part of April.

There is a total of 61 classes offered this quarter at the YMCA. If you have not received a brochure either stop by the Y or call 477-1661 for more information on your particular interest.

HOME BUILDERS — Ohio builders visited Congress this week to voice their concerns about pending legislation affecting residential construction. Discussing the issues are Senator John Glenn and Bill Stout of Circleville.

Ohio Builders Discuss High Cost Of Housing

A delegation of Ohio home builders, including Bill Stout of Circleville met with their Congressmen on Capitol Hill to discuss pending legislation which would have considerable affect on home construction costs.

The Ohio members of the National Association of Home Builders strongly opposed enactment of the Common Site Picketing bill. The builders said the measure, which would legalize secondary boycotts at construction sites, would result in lengthy and costly construction delays, further driving up the cost of new housing.

The funding of housing assistance programs under the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Farmers Home Administration was discussed, too. The builders support adequate funding levels, increased mortgage limits and reduced down payment requirements on several existing programs. They urge the extension of these programs until the fall of 1978.

The builders seek also two amendments to the Clean Air Act. The first change would limit the power of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to have each state impose land use controls. The second would limit EPA's power to use the Clean Air Act as a means of rejecting or modifying the size of sewage treatment plants constructed with federal funds.

Certain fees paid by builders to water and sewage treatment utilities are now tax exempt. The builders are seeking tax reform legislation which would make similar fees paid to electric and natural gas utilities tax exempt also. This measure would help stem the rapid rise in fees electric and gas utilities are charging to offset their tax burden. The builders say those excess fees are pass-along costs of construction to the home buyer and should be eliminated.

The builders told their federal legislators they want equal treatment also by the tax laws regarding taxes and interest paid on construction loans. They say these items should be deductible as costs of doing business as they are now in other industries.

The Ohio group expressed support of administrative and legislative changes which would require the Small Business Administration to recognize small business home builders for SBA assistance. A bill to this effect has already passed the House.

Among other items of discussion with Ohio Congressmen were amendments to make the Federal Water Pollution control Act more workable. In particular, the builders seek a change in the Act which would restrict EPA's power to delay the disbursement of water pollution control grants.

Return Man In Slayings

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A second suspect in the shotgun slayings of four Parke County youths was behind bars in Indiana today.

Michael Wright, 21, Crawfordsville, was brought to Indianapolis from California Thursday night. Wright was in handcuffs, escorted by police.

He was arrested by the FBI in Santa Clara, Calif., last week on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Wright is charged with first-degree murder in the Feb. 14 killings of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Spencer of near Hollandsburg.

Daniel Stonebraker, 20, Darlington, was arrested March 9 on the same charge.

"THE SQUAW"

Gerri, from Phoenix, Arizona will be showing her very large and unique collection of authentic American Indian handcrafted jewelry, in our shop 106 S. Main St., Kingston on Sat. March 19 and Sun. March 20.

Gerri is a member of the Indian Arts and Crafts Assoc., and we consider it a privilege to introduce her to you. She comes to Ohio about once every 2 to 3 months to do a special show for the Cleveland Museum of Art. (This will give you some idea about the quality of the jewelry being shown in this show). The collection is so large and varied that it must be seen to be appreciated — you could visit the largest and finest shops in the entire U.S.A. and never see anything that would be more spectacular than this collection.
